FINANCING OF WATER WORKS IS NEXT STEP

Bids to be Received by Commission Tonight for Bonds And Warrants

A SEPARATE SYSTEM

Mayor Lenhart Favors Conducting Plant on Separate Business-like Basis

The city commission will receive tonight bids from financial firms for $225,000 of 5 percent bonds and up to $475,000 of 6 percent improve warrants to pay for the purchase and improvement of water system.

The contract for the sale of the water company to the city has been completed, following the agreement on a purchase price of $265,000 Saturday afternoon. The city commission will use all of the bond money on the purchase price and as much of the warrant money as needed. Whether the city will issue $475,000 warrants depends on the extent of improvements.

Contracts already have been let for the building of a filtration plant building costing $108,292.24; installation of heating plant, costing $71,292.00; installation of filters, costing $26,075.00; a total of $155,659.24 which, added to the $265,000 purchase price, make $335,659.24 investment for the city. Extensions of mains, installation of new pumps, repairs, etc., are yet to be figured out.

Mayor Lenhart said today, speaking of the closing of the deal for the purchase of the plant, "I am glad that negotiations with the Bismarck Water Supply Company and the city have resulted in the taking over of the plant at a satisfactory price. I feel now that the city is in position to proceed with all necessary improvements and extensions and to meet the needs of our growing city in every way."

A Separate Business
Mr. Lenhart favors the handling of the water works system as a separate proposition, financially, from all other city business. This is done in some cities, although not generally in Mandan. It is probable that the city commission will send a representative to Fargo to study the methods of conducting the city-owned plant there.

The commission will immediately take up the proposition of operating the present plant. There is, of course, no plan except as informally discussed among the commissioners of the plant, office, etc., is yet to be settled. While the time for taking over the plant is not fixed, it is to be within 90 days, or as soon as the financial arrangements can be completed. It is more than likely that it will be taken over August 1.

Approval Given
Expressions of opinion heard generally of the streets of the city among business men and others is that a satisfactory solution has been reached, and that in taking over the plant the city commission did the best thing possible. Payment of an excessive price was avoided. There are some who believe the city got the plant cheap. Taking many factors into consideration—avoidance of litigation, other trouble, avoidance of necessity of tearing up many streets, saving on interest—it is generally felt that the proposition was a good one for the city.

A sigh of relief is breathed on all sides because the long-standing water controversy is ended. It is considered as a big step in removing the evils of factionalism, and paving the way for the further growth of Bismarck.

Governor's Devotion to Dead Dog Divides State Against Itself

By NEA Service
Augusta, Me., June 11.—The august state of Maine is divided against itself over the matter of a dog. It all started with Garry's illness. Garry, an Irish setter, was the inseparable companion of Governor Fernald P. Baxter. The dog and his forerunners had been in the Baxter family for 37 years. When his master moved over to Blaine Mansion, the State White House, Garry went along.

Each morning the dog would visit the Capitol, and drop in to see his many friends in every office. In the executive chamber there was a special couch provided for him, and on it Garry would lie for hours at a time, waiting for the governor to finish his work. Then together they would walk over the hills and through the woods.

Some of the citizens thought the governor was paying too much attention to the dog. It was undignified they said. But then President Harding got Laddie Boy, and they modified their views. Garry became a veritable shadow of the governor. He trailed his master wherever he went, even on railroad trips. He enjoyed a special permit to ride in the coaches of the Maine Central Railroad.

The governor, a bachelor, is an ardent lover of all animals. He sponsored the first anti-vivisection law by a legislature in the United States. He recently made possible a new bird refuge.

"My dogs and myself constitute my family," he says. Last September, Garry became ill. He was sent to a Boston hospital and given the best of care. But it wasn't enough. The dog died.

The governor was heartbroken. He ordered the flag at the State House lowered to half mast. Immediately came a storm of protest. The state commanders of the G. A. R. and the American Legion, and leaders of other patriotic groups, called the governor's action "ill-advised" and "unfitting." This was answered by the governor's friends.

"I seek to offend the feelings of none," said the governor, "but I yield to no one the right to act according to the dictate of my heart. My faithful dog, unlike many of my human friends, never betrayed or believed ill of me."

And so the flag was lowered while Garry was laid away beneath a mound of earth at the foot of a granite boulder on a little island. A copper tablet is imbedded in the rock commemorating his memory. Soon he will be forgotten by all, but the governor.

Yet a controversy, growing out of the governor's order, rages on. Some say it may even mount into a political issue.

WON'T BUILD BANK BUILDING

Board of Administration Leases Building For Year

The Bank of North Dakota, or Industrial Commission, will not erect a bank and office building in Bismarck during the present year. The state board of administration and the bank have secured an extension of the lease on the building at present occupied by the bank and numerous other state offices for a year, ending next June. But that time many of the offices will have been moved into the state capital, room being obtained by completion of the new Liberty Memorial Building within the year.

RESTORE PEACE IN BULGARIA REPORTS SAY

New Ministry Takes Charge of Government, Seeks to Avoid Bloodshed

HUNTING PREMIER

Sofia, Bulgaria, June 11.—Complete tranquillity prevails in Bulgaria, at an early hour today. Premier Zankoff, head of the government, has resigned the portfolio of foreign affairs to Christo Kallof, while Col. Zoulanof is the new minister of war. The cabinet now represents all parties with the exception of the communists and the peasants.

The King received the members of the new ministry yesterday. Premier Zankoff called upon the diplomatic representatives and informed them of the change in government. The Bulgarian telegraphic agency publishes a note asserting that the leaders of the communist party have asserted they will be loyal to the new regime.

The government has taken no exceptional measures to preserve order, nor has a censorship been established, it is stated.

PREMIER HUNTED

Paris, June 11.—Detachments sent to apprehend Zamboulsky, the Bulgarian premier deposed by the revolutionists have as yet failed in their mission, says a dispatch from L'Journal du Soir correspondent. He adds that Zamboulsky was defended in his villa at Slavovitch with the aid of peasants.

The new government headed by Prof. Alexander Zankoff is said to be willing that the former premier should leave the country as the ministry seeks above all to avoid bloodshed and it is loathe to send an organized expedition to capture him.

The correspondent, who is the only French special writer in the Bulgarian capital, believes that Zamboulsky spent all day Saturday in prison, with members of his cabinet although he was subsequently liberated.

Home Damaged By Lightning

Dickinson, June 11.—Nothing less than a miracle saved members of the Casper Frederick family from instant death when a heavy bolt of lightning struck the Jerry Brabee house in the northern part of the city where they resided, during the heavy electrical storm last Saturday evening and tore it asunder. All occupants escaped without injury.

Germans Must Agree to Cease Their Passive Resistance, Is French Position

Paris, June 11.—No reply to the recent German note is considered necessary so far as France is concerned, it was said at the foreign office this forenoon, but if the allies desire to improve the opportunity to become a general discussion of the reparations question France is ready.

A reply by the allies in common, it is held in official circles, would require probably several weeks of negotiations because of the impossibility of their uniting in an agreement. The only united action by the allies now feasible in the eyes of France, it is said, would be a common notice to Germany that she must cease her passive resistance to the execution of the treaty of Versailles. Afterwards the allied would have the leisure to go over all the problems if they were disposed to do so, but France will insist that if the discussions are renewed that they proceed on the French conditions as set forth at the Paris conference.

BUFFALO HUNT TO BE STAGED AT ROUND-UP

Young Indians of the present generation will see what the old men of the tribes have told them about and white folks will see what they have read about at the Mandan Round-Up July 2, 3 and 4, for one of the features will be a buffalo hunt.

Although buffalo are extinct on the open range there are several large private herds in the country, and buffalo will be secured for the Round-Up.

Old Indians who fought against the whites will show the young how it is done, for a buffalo will be slaughtered to make a holiday for the Indians. The Indians will use bows and arrows. The hunt will be staged in the arena. Three cowboys are in Minneapolis and St. Paul today to advertise the Round-Up.

"Brains of Treasury," People Call Him

SEYMOUR PARKER GILBERT JR.

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer
Washington, June 11.—"The Brains of the United States Treasury."

By common consent of all who know the inside workings of Uncle Sam's dizzy fiscal mechanism, that title goes—

NOT to Andrew W. Mellon, multi-millionaire capitalist and financier, who is secretary of the treasury. NOT to Joseph S. McCloy, government actuary, for 30 years, a kind of genius in the government's financial affairs.

Nor to any other of the elderly and dignified gentlemen who occupy imposing offices in the many-pillared pile which houses the nation's treasure chest.

Is Undersecretary
Instead, it is bestowed by general consent and even with the approval of the gray-heads above mentioned, on a rather lanky, angular, somewhat younger of just 30 years—Seymour Parker Gilbert Jr.

Officially, Gilbert is "undersecretary of the treasury," and, according to the Congressional Directory, the official gazette of official Washington, is "in charge of fiscal affairs."

Efficient, he is, of course. He never signs himself Seymour Parker Gilbert Jr. He makes it S. P. Gilbert Jr. That saves both time and ink.

He is a real capitalist in conversation, paying out only the minimum of words necessary to fill the bill. If a question can be answered by "Yes" or "No," his answer will be "yes" or "no."

Mind Like Machine
Given the facts, however, in a financial situation, Gilbert's mind functions with the precision and nicety of an automatic machine. Feed him the problem and out will come the answer, polished, checked and ready for filing.

Inside the department, Gilbert is given the credit for having conceived and executed the operation by which the department has retired or refunded some seven and a half billions of short term obligations within the last fourteen months, without causing a ripple on the surface of the national credit sea. Gilbert is a bachelor.

He doesn't attempt to keep up any social front. He doesn't try to entertain. All he has to do is just work. And he does that—all day long, and often until midnight!

War between the North Dakota Leader, "official North Dakota newspaper of the Nonpartisan League," and John Andrews' "Progressive," new Fargo weekly continues.

The "Progressive" charges the failure of the league to file petitions for referendum of six laws of the 1923 legislature, which included the most important banking laws of the session and of great importance as affecting closed banks, to the league state executive committee. It charges that the committee, of which W. J. Church is head, "laid down" or failed to function in getting the 7,000 signatures necessary for the referendum.

The North Dakota Leader answers by saying that just about the time the people were getting busy with the petitions the Progressive began screaming, "thieves, robbers, traitors, scoundrels," running away with the league and its own back doors. "Townley ate the league's lunch," he says, "and some of its shouting followers began barking, and while petition circulators should have been getting signers they stopped a week or so to see who was being murdered—and then it was too late."

While Andrews continues his war on the state committee the state committee is planning a campaign. It announces a membership campaign, at $7.50 per head, as soon as seeding is finished in North Dakota. Chairman Church is sticking to the Nonpartisan Leader, and makes his announcement to the county chairman of the league executive committee in that paper.

He says: "If a spring's work is finished and the work we did last month to get ready for the drivers in the counties for re-enrollment of members, not reached by the organizer in the drive last summer, should be put in effect immediately."

The proposed plan is one adopted at the convention here just after the session of the legislature. The $7.50 membership is divided as follows: to state committee for sinking fund $2.50; to state committee for expenses $1.00; to pre-enrollment $1.00; to North Dakota Leader $1.00; to National Leader $1.00.

The 2.50 sinking fund is for the purpose of paying league accommodation notes.

LOSS TO CROPS, HOMES TO RUN INTO MILLIONS

Worst of Flood in Southern Kansas Passes; Flood Warnings in Texas

THOUSANDS HOMELESS

School House Holds Hundreds In Arkansas City, Whose Homes Are Swept Away

FOUR KNOWN DEAD
Kansas City, Mo., June 11.—Four persons have lost their lives, many persons are injured thousands have been driven from their homes and damage to crops and property estimated at millions of dollars has been done as a result of floods in many sections of Kansas, according to reports reaching here from over the state. The heaviest loss of life and property was in south-west Kansas in Arkansas City and at Winfield. One person was reported lost at each of Arkansas City, Winfield, Topeka and at Spring River, near Pittsburg.

The Arkansas City chamber of commerce announced the loss there would reach $2,000,000 and placed the homeless at $3,000. The heaviest loss was to refineries and railroads, this being estimated at $1,250,000. Churches and schools were filled with refugees and many were being cared for in private homes.

It was estimated that more than 500 homes were submerged to the roofs and it was feared there would be a great deal of loss when the check of the missing is made.

Kansas City, June 11.—With five persons reported killed, thousands driven from their homes and property damage estimated in the millions of dollars, many districts in Kansas remained flooded today. Torrential rains over the state for the past three days caused many rivers and smaller streams to overflow their banks, destroying crops in the lowlands and inundating residential and business part of several towns.

In one place today streams were reported receding and not much additional damage was expected.

Arkansas City and Winfield, Kans., suffered greatly from the flood. Three thousand persons were declared homeless in Arkansas City in an appeal sent by the mayor for outside aid. He estimated the flood damage there at $2,000,000.

Both the Arkansas and Walnut rivers were out of their banks there and a large residential section of the city was flooded. One thousand persons were marooned last night in a school house and in other buildings in one part of the city. Trains generally were reported on time today with the exception of those passing through the flood district of Kansas.

FACE GREATER DAMAGE
Oklahoma City, June 11.—With the northern half of the state practically inundated Oklahoma today millions of dollars and faces still greater damage in the swirl of waters which has ruined crops, demolished rail traffic and according to unconfirmed reports cost the lives of several persons.

Freight embargoes were expected to be placed on their broken lines by several lines today. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific line led the way last night when it announced an embargo on shipments west of Gary and north of Caldwell, Kansas.

GET FLOOD WARNING
St. Worth, June 11.—Police were warned by United States Weather Bureau officials to sound flood warnings in the Trinity river bottoms as the water is 23 1/2 feet now and another rise is coming. Families are being advised today to move to higher ground.

Annual Institute Of W. C. T. U. July 1

Hooper and son Harold and William Reid, all of Courtney, were riding home from Spiritwood lake was struck by lightning which tore a hole through the top large enough for a man to crawl through and shattered the rear bow of the top. The auto, the occupants say, was traveling at a moderate rate of speed. Except for a severe shock, the occupants were uninjured.

Sheriff Hedstrom was notified Sunday that a safe was blown in an elevator at Washburn, but that the burglars obtained only a few dynamite caps and papers for their trouble.

ILLNESS FATAL TO Woman 102, Never Employed Doctor
Williston, N. D., June 11.—Mrs. Maggie Michael, one of the oldest residents of this section, died at her farm home near here at the age of 102 years.

She was born in Syria, and came to America about 15 years ago. For the last four years she had been blind, but up to then had to care for the home and for her two sons who survive.

Up to her final illness of only a few hours, she had never known illness nor employed a physician.

The commissioners referred a letter from E. A. Hughes, A. W. Lucas and J. P. Spies, protesting against a $200 advance fee paid to F. O. Hellstrom, engaged to search out property which has escaped attention to the states attorney under whom Mr. Hellstrom would be engaged. The taxpayers said there was no necessity for such expenditures that there were ample agencies charged by law with doing the work.

FINANCING OF WATER WORKS IS NEXT STEP

Bids to be Received by Commission Tonight for Bonds And Warrants

A SEPARATE SYSTEM

Mayor Lenhart Favors Conducting Plant on Separate Business-like Basis

The city commission will receive tonight bids from financial firms for $225,000 of 5 percent bonds and up to $475,000 of 6 percent improve warrants to pay for the purchase and improvement of a water system.

The contract for the sale of the water company to the city has been completed, following the agreement on a purchase price of $255,000 Saturday afternoon. The city commission will use all of the bond money on the purchase price and as much of the warrant money as needed. Whether the city will issue $475,000 warrants depends on the extent of improvements.

Contracts already have been let for the building of a filtration plant building costing $108,292.24; installation of heating plant, costing $7,292.00; installation of filters, costing $25,075.00; a total of $130,559.24 which, added to the $255,000 purchase price, make $385,559.24 investment for the city. Extensions of mains, installation of new pumps, repairs, etc., are yet to be figured out.

Mayor Lenhart said today, speaking of the closing of the deal for the purchase of the plant, "I am glad that negotiations with the Bismarck Water Supply Company and the city have resulted in the taking over of the plant at a satisfactory price. The Bismarck Water Supply Company has maintained that with the fight being made against it and gate troubles, it has not been able to finance additions to the plant. Many sections of the city have believed they should have. The city, it is believed, will be able to provide the additional mains to meet the needs of the growing city.

P. C. Remington, one of the citizens' committee who advised the commission in the negotiations, today expressed himself as well satisfied with the outcome and believed that it would be a big thing for the city.

Get $20,000 Taxes
The City of Bismarck will get back some of the purchase price in the payment of taxes by the water company. The treasurer's office reports that the company owes $9,570.30 taxes for 1921 and $10,822.35 for 1922, without penalty, or over $20,000 of taxes. The company has claimed its inability to pay. The taxes now will be paid and the city will get its share, the county and school city also benefitting. The county will of course, lose $10,000 a year in the future in taxes, since the city will not pay taxes on the plant or on the

WON'T BUILD BANK BUILDING

Board of Administration Leases Building For Year

The Bank of North Dakota, or Industrial Commission, will not erect a bank and office building in Bismarck during the present year. The state board of administration and the bank have secured an extension of the lease on the building at present occupied by the bank and numerous other state offices for a year, ending next June. By that time many of the offices will have been moved to the state capitol, room being obtained by completion of the new Liberty Memorial Building within the year.

The suggestion advanced that the bank acquire or build a building of its own, to avoid rental charges, may be transformed into action at some future time, according to officials.

RESTORE PEACE IN BULGARIA REPORTS SAY

New Ministry Takes Charge of Government, Seeks to Avoid Bloodshed

HUNTING PREMIER

Sofia, Bulgaria, June 11.—Complete tranquility prevails in Bulgaria, at an early hour today.

Premier Zankoff, head of the government, has resigned the portfolio of foreign affairs to Christo Kaloff, while Col. Zankoff is the new minister of war. The cabinet now represents all parties with the exception of the communists and the peasants.

The King received the members of the new ministry yesterday. Premier Zankoff called upon the diplomatic representatives and informed them of the change in government. The Bulgarian telegraph agency publishes a note assuring that the leaders of the communist party have asserted they will be loyal to the new regime.

The government has taken no exceptional measures to preserve order. The only change of ownership has been established, it is stated.

PREMIER HUNTED
Paris, June 11.—Detachments sent to apprehend Zamboulsky, the Bulgarian premier deposed by the revolutionists have as yet failed in their mission, says a dispatch from L'Journal's Sofia correspondent. He adds that Zamboulsky was defending himself in his villa at Slavovitsa with the aid of peasants.

The new government headed by Prof. Alexander Zankoff is said to be willing that the former premier should leave the country as the ministry seeks above all to avoid bloodshed and it is loathe to send an organized expedition to capture him.

The correspondent, who is the only French agent in Sofia, believes that Zamboulsky spent all day Saturday in prison, with members of his cabinet although he was subsequently liberated.

Home Damaged By Lightning

Dickinson, June 11.—Nothing less than a miracle saved members of the Casper Fredrick family from instant death when a heavy bolt of lightning struck the Jerry Brabec house in the northern part of the city where they resided, during the heavy electrical storm last Saturday evening and tore it asunder. All occupants escaped without injury.

The bolt struck the chimney, tore the roof off, ran down through the living room and out the door, tearing the plastering and woodwork from the walls. Mrs. Frederick and the children were in the room at the time. The house was badly wrecked.

BUFFALO HUNT TO BE STAGED AT ROUND-UP

Young Indians of the present generation will see what the old men of the tribes have told them about and white folks will see what they have read about at the Mandan Round-Up July 2, 3 and 4. For one of the features will be a buffalo hunt.

Although Buffalo are extinct on the open range there are several large private herds in the country, and buffalo will be secured for the Round-Up.

Old Indians who fought against the whites will show the young how it is done, for a buffalo will be slaughtered to make a holiday for the Indians. The Indians will use bows and arrows. FRANCE WOULD MAKE COMMON GERMAN REPLY

Ready to Discuss Action With Allies on Germany's Latest Proposal

STILL FIRM ON RUHR

Germans Must Agree to Cease Their Passive Resistance, Is French Position

Paris, June 11.—No reply to the recent German note is considered necessary so far as France is concerned, it was said at the foreign office this forenoon, but if the allies desire to improve the opportunity to resume a general discussion of the reparations question France is ready.

A reply by the allies in common, it is held in official circles, would require probably several weeks of negotiations because of the impossibility of their uniting in an answer until they themselves came to an agreement. The only united action by the allies now feasible in the eyes of France, it is said, would be a common notice to Germany that she must cease her passive resistance to the execution of the treaty of Versailles. Afterwards the allied would have the leisure to go over all the problems if they were disposed to do so but France will insist that if the discussions are renewed that they proceed on the French conditions as set forth at the Paris conference.

5 DIE IN RIOT
Berlin, June 11.—Five civilians were shot dead and one seriously wounded in Dortmund last night, according to semi-official advices. It is not stated who is responsible although the report adds that troop reinforcements have arrived and occupied the city hall and more than 100 persons are under arrest.

The French arrested Acting Mayor Fluhme and Acting Police Chief Martinus in consequence of the shooting Saturday night of two French non-commissioned officers.

The German authorities of Dortmund have offered a reward of 5,000,000 marks for the identification of those responsible for this shooting.

TURKEY CAN'T PAY IN GOLD

Tells French She Can Only Pay in Paper Marks

Lausanne, June 11.—Ismed Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation at the peace conference here, formally notified the allies today that Turkey had decided after the fullest consideration that she can pay her interest on her debt only in French paper francs or their equivalent instead of in gold as the bonds provide.

France has been particularly insistent on compliance with the terms named in the bonds as most of the bonds are held by French Nationals.

TIMBER FIRES AGAIN MENACE

Duluth, June 11.—Brush and timber fires are again causing trouble in Northeastern Minnesota, it was reported at the office of John Nelson, county supervisor of the forest service. The dry weather of the last week has caused several old fires to flare up, according to him.

A truck load of men were sent to Tower today in response to a call from a farmer, who asked for additional guards. None of the fires has reached menacing proportions but some of them fed by seasoned slashings are consuming the green vegetation and are making huge clouds of thick smoke, causing uneasiness among the settlers.

PROTEST FEE TO ATTORNEY

The county commissioners have awarded contract for building three culverts to J. C. Young, Bismarck. The culverts are west of Driscoll, west of Regan 1 1/2 miles south of Baldwin. All are to be concrete and will cost a total of $1,800.

The commissioners referred a letter from E. A. Hughes, A. W. Lucas and J. P. Spies, protesting against a $200 advance fee paid to F. O. Hellstrom, engaged to search out property which has escaped attention to the states attorney under whom Mr. Hellstrom would be engaged. The taxpayers said there was no necessity for such expenditures that there were ample agencies charged by law with doing the work.

"Brains of Treasury," People Call Him

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington, June 11.—"The Brains of the United States Treasury."

By common consent of all who know the inside workings of Uncle Sam's dizzy fiscal mechanism, that title goes—

NOT to Andrew W. Mellon, multi-millionaire capitalist and financier, who is secretary of the treasury—

NOT to Joseph S. McCoy, government actuary, for 30 years a guiding genius in the government's financial affairs—

Not to any other of the elderly and dignified gentlemen who occupy imposing offices in the many-pillared pile which houses the nation's treasure chest.

Is Undersecretary
Instead, it is bestowed by general consent and even with the approval of the gray-heads above mentioned, on a rather lanky, angular, serious-faced youngster of just 30 years—Seymour Parker Gilbert Jr.

Officially, Gilbert is "undersecretary of the treasury," and, according to the Congressional Directory, the official gazette of official Washington, is "in charge of fiscal affairs."

Efficient, he is, of course. He never signs himself Seymour Parker Gilbert Jr. He makes it: S. P. Gilbert Jr. That saves both time and ink.

He is a real capitalist in conversation, paying out only the minimum of words necessary to fill the bill. If a question can be answered by "Yes" or "No," his answer will be "yes" or "no."

Mind Like Machine
Given the facts, however, in a financial situation, Gilbert's mind functions with the precision and nicety of an automatic machine. Feed him the problem and out will come the answer, polished, checked and ready for filing.

Inside the department, Gilbert is given the credit for having conceived, and executed the operation by which the department has retired or re-fundings some seven and a half billions of short term obligations within the last fourteen months, without causing a ripple on the surface of the national credit sea. Gilbert is a bachelor. He doesn't attempt to keep up any social front. He doesn't like to entertain. All he has to do is just work. And he does that—all day long, and often until midnight!

LEAGUE "WAR" CONTINUES IN RIVAL ORGANS

Andrews Charges Failure to Referend Laws to State Executive Committee

NEW DRIVE IS ASKED

Church's Answer Is an Appeal To County Chairmen to Enroll New Members

War between the North Dakota League, "official North Dakota newspaper of the Nonpartisan League," and John Andrews' "Progressive," new Fargo weekly continues.

The "Progressive" charges the failure of the league to file petitions for referendum of six laws of the 1923 legislature, which included the most important banking laws of the session and of great importance as affecting closed banks, to the league state executive committee. It charges that the committee of which W. J. Church is head, "laid down" or failed to function in getting the 7,000 signatures necessary.

The North Dakota League answers by saying that just about the time the people were getting busy with the petitions the "Progressive" began screaming, "thieves, robbers, traitors, somebody's running away with the League. Look your back doors. Townley ate the Courier-News." And some of its snorting followers began barking, and while petition circulators should have been getting signers they stopped a week or so to see who was being murdered—and then it was too late.

While Andrews continues his war on the state committee the state committee is planning a campaign of its own.

It announces a membership campaign, at $7.50 per head, as soon as seeding is finished in North Dakota. Chairman Church is sticking to the Nonpartisan League, and makes his announcement to the county chairmen of the league executive committees in that paper.

He says: "The spring's work is finished and the work we did last month to get ready for the drivers in the counties for re-enrollment of members, not reached by the organizer in the drive last summer, should be put in effect immediately."

The proposed plan is one adopted at the convention here just after the session of the legislature. The $7.50 membership is divided as follows: to state committee for sinking fund $2.50; to state committee for expenses $1.00; to precinct committee $1.00; to county committee $1.00; to North Dakota Leader $1.00; to National Leader $1.00.

The 2.50 sinking fund is for the purpose of paying league accommodation notes.

LOSS TO CROPS, HOMES TO RUN INTO MILLIONS

Worst of Flood in Southern Kansas Passes; Flood Warnings in Texas

THOUSANDS HOMELESS

School House Holds Hundreds In Arkansas City, Whose Homes Are Swept Away

FOUR KNOWN DEAD
Kansas City, Mo., June 11.—Four persons have lost their lives, many persons are injured and thousands have been driven from their homes and damage to crops and property estimated at millions of dollars has been done as a result of floods in many sections of Kansas, according to reports reaching here from over the state. The heavier loss of life and property was in southwest Kansas in Arkansas City and at Winfield. One person was reported lost at each of Arkansas City, Winfield, Topeka and at Spring River, near Pittsburg.

The Arkansas City chamber of commerce announced the loss there would reach $3,000,000 and placed the homeless at $3,000. The heaviest loss was to refineries and railroads, this being estimated at $1,250,000. Churches and schools were filled with refugees and many were being cared for in private homes.

It was estimated that more than 500 homes were submerged to the roofs and it was feared there would be a great flood toll when the check of the missing is made.

Kansas City, June 11.—With five persons reported killed, thousands driven from their homes and property damage estimated in the millions of dollars many districts in Kansas remained flooded today. Torrential rains over the state for the past three days caused many rivers and smaller streams to overflow their banks, destroying crops in the lowlands and inundating residential and business part of several towns.

In some places today streams were reported receding and not much additional damage was expected.

Arkansas City and Winfield, Kans., suffered greatly from the flood. Three thousand persons were declared homeless in Arkansas City in an appeal sent by the mayor for outside aid. He estimated the flood damage there at $2,000,000.

Both the Arkansas and Walnut rivers were out of their banks there and a large residential section of the city was flooded. One thousand persons were marooned last night in a school house and in other buildings in one part of the city. Trains generally were reported on time today with the exception of those passing through the flood district of Kansas.

FACE GREATER DAMAGE
Oklahoma City, June 11.—With the northern part of the state practically inundated Oklahoma City marked a flood loss running into millions of dollars and faced still greater damage in the swirl of waters which has ruined crops, demoralized rail traffic and according to unconfirmed reports cost the lives of several persons.

Freight embargoes were expected to be placed on the broken lines by several lines today. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific line led the way last night when it announced an embargo on shipments west of Gary and north of Caldwell, Kansas.

GET FLOOD WARNING
Ft. Worth, June 11.—Police were warned by United States Weather Bureau officials to sound flood warnings in the Trinity river bottoms as the water is 25 to 32 feet out and another rise is coming. Families are being advised today to move to higher ground.

FORD'S OUTPUT IS INCREASED

Moving Steadily up to a 6,700-a-day Production Word from Factory

Moving steadily up to a 6,700-a-day production, the Ford Motor Company on Monday, May 21, set a new daily record when 6,658 cars and trucks were completely assembled for domestic use. It is announced by the Ford News. This new production mark exceeds by 43 the best previous day which was May 9 with its record of 6,615.

Since the first of the year the vast resources of the Ford Motor Company have been utilized to keep production on a continually increasing schedule, but orders all along have been far in excess of the output and continues to be even under the present record-breaking output.

Ford production for the week ending Tuesday, May 22, went to a new high record with a total of 29,417 cars and trucks completed for domestic use. It is announced by The Ford News. This is 114 more than the record-breaking production of the week before.

Monday, May 21, was the biggest day of the last week with a production of 6,658 cars and trucks, beating the daily record of 6,615 set up on May 9.

Fordson Tractor output for the week was 2,396.

The Lincoln division of the Ford Motor Company produced 174 cars during the week ending Tuesday.

EQUIPMENT OF CAR IMPORTANT

Tommy Milton Wins Indianapolis Race with Willard Batteries

Tommy Milton's great victory at the Indianapolis Speedway races against a field of the greatest automobile drivers in the country proved a victory not only for the driver and the car but also for the equipment which carried the car into first place.

The winning car was equipped with battery ignition, using a Willard battery. Machines driven by Harry Hartz, Jimmy Murphy and Earl Cooper who finished second, third and fourth, respectively, were also battery equipped with Willards.

Last year there was but one car in the race Willard equipped, that of Jimmy Murphy, the winner. This year out of the ten who finished within the money seven carried Willard Batteries. This was indeed a great victory for this battery.

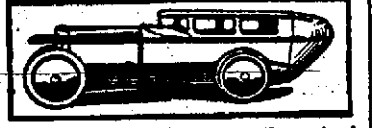

The Indianapolis classic is the most grueling test that can be imagined not only for the drivers and their cars but also for the storage battery. In the constant bumping and banging of the car in the 500 miles of the race the storage battery must continue to function giving its eight sparks for every revolution of the powerful engines. The winning car was driven at an engine speed of 5600 revolutions a minute requiring the Willard bat-

Queer Shaped Auto Cuts Down Head Resistance to the Wind

Concentrating their attention on scientific streamlining, Franco-British engineers have designed a most unusually shaped automobile which, they believe, will prove very speedy, since head resistance to the wind has been cut down considerably. The body is built of duraluminum, a new light alloy, and aluminum on a system like that used in making airplane fuselages. The under part of the car is increased in sheet aluminum, only the brake drums and axles projecting. Entrance is gained to the car—powered by a six-cylinder motor developing 200 horsepower—by a side panel, and by a part of the roof and a section of the fender being hinged and, so, easily raised. The entire car weighs only about 3,000 pounds.

Bondage to Signal Amundsen's Start

When Captain Roald Amundsen, the Arctic explorer, hops off on his flight across the North Pole, on or about June 20, a system of signal fires or smudges will carry the news of his start from Wainwright to the nearest radio station, some 400 miles away. From the radio station the word will be sent to the scout planes at Spitzbergen, which are to be on the lookout to render any possible assistance on his arrival at that point.

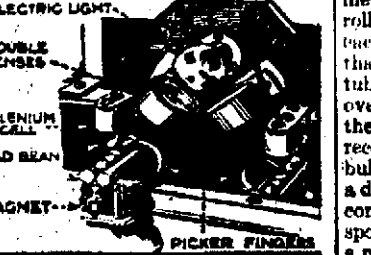

tery to supply 44,800 sparks per minute. Thus the battery on the winning car was required to furnish approximately thirteen and a half million sparks, a truly remarkable performance considering that no generator is carried on a racing car to recharge the battery.

Oakland Would Educate All To Auto Service

That motor car dealers' service managers should be educated today more along the line of good merchandising maintenance practices to the end that car owners will be better satisfied with both the service itself and the cost of service was the gist of an address made by R. A. Armstrong, service manager of the Oakland Motor Car company at the recent service managers' convention of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in Detroit.

"We have been educating our dealers on the most economical manner of merchandising maintenance on cars," stated Mr. Armstrong, "because we feel that the stress today should be placed on this work of service maintenance. This work of course is supplemented by the educational work carried on to develop better mechanics and to acquaint them with all methods that will enable them to perform more efficiently and economically every repair job."

"Today throughout the country at our main distributing points, dealers' service managers and mechanics are meeting our factory service representatives who conduct schools covering the product from a mechanical standpoint and good business methods. The flat rate system, now almost univer-

Farmer Sorts Bad Beans from Good Without Touching Them

If all the beans grown in the United States in a single year were placed end to end they would form a chain of 10 strands connecting the earth and the moon. Imagine having to pick out every tenth or twentieth bean from such strings. However, something quite similar occurs in sorting the beans crop every year, for the bad ones have to be picked out before marketing the product.

Ray F. McWilliams, a Michigan farmer, seeing his profits being wiped out because of the primitive and time-consuming method of sorting beans by hand, set about to simplify this work. He learned that a mineral (selenium) was sensitive to changes in light upon resulting in a similar variation in its electrical conductivity. Utilizing selenium cells, he designed a novel machine that sorts 15 bushels of beans an hour, performing the work of 50 people with more than human accuracy.

The beans are placed in a trough at the top of the machine from which they are fed by small wheels through a series of hoppers until they pass out in single file along a pair of horizontal feed rollers. A selenium cell is placed over each pair of rollers, and is so inclosed that it receives light only through a tube, the lower end of which is directly over the moving string of beans. As the beans pass under the tube each one receives a flood of light from an electric bulb, which is focused upon it through a double lens. When a discolored bean comes into range the selenium cell responds to the change in color, causing a magnet to close, thus raising a finger which pushes the bad bean from the rollers, while the good beans pass on into a bin and are then ready for market.

Self-acting Door Latch

A door latch for barns and granaries should be certain in action, so that the door cannot open accidentally after being shut. A simple wooden self-acting latch of the kind shown in the drawing has been found entirely suitable.

It consists of a single piece of wood, tapering from 4 in. to about 2 in. in width, so that one end will be much heavier than the other. It is bolted to the door loosely and slightly off center, so that the heavy end always tends to swing down. A curved slot is cut in the door, and a wooden pin, fastened in the latch, passes through the slot so that the door can be opened from the outside. When the door is closed and the latch is released, it swings to the closed position.

Partners for Half Century

McIntyre and Heath Coming To Bismarck on Golden Jubilee Tour

The most wonderful stage partnership in record in this country is that which has existed for nearly fifty years between James McIntyre of Kenosha, and Thomas Heath of Philadelphia. The noted players of today started their partnership when they were about eleven years old with a minstrel troupe. They had been with a circus a season previous to this, but not as partners.

At the present time McIntyre and Heath are the whole show wherever they appear. For years they were topliners in vaudeville, and then at the head of their own "Georgia Minstrels," they toured the country as the most pretentious burnt cork organization in the country. The hilarious "Ham Tree" followed, which was the laughing sensation for years. "Hello Alexander" is another one of their famous musical comedies, and now they are appearing in a brand new musical show called "Red Topper."

RESERVE BANKS ARE UPHELD

Methods Used Are Held Lawful by U. S. Supreme Court

Washington, June 11.—Methods used by Federal Reserve Banks in Georgia and Virginia to compel banks not members of that system to cash at par checks drawn upon them by their depositors which reached Federal Reserve Banks for collection or clearance were approved by the supreme court today in cases brought against the Federal Reserve Bank at Atlanta, Ga., and Richmond, Va.

Justice Brandeis, delivering the opinion, stated that Congress had not imposed on the Federal Reserve Banks the duty to collect all checks at par and did not impose on such banks a duty to introduce into circulation against the wishes of some of the banks affected.

Justices Vandervanter and Sutherland dissented.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL

A story of two married couples, in contrasting stations of life, whose marriages are threatened with shipwreck due to the wife's desire to avoid the responsibilities of life and have a good time, is told with genuine dramatic power, with an unimpaired vein of comedy, in "Brothers Under the Skin," a Goldwyn picture by Peter B. Kyne, which comes to the Capitol theatre tonight for two days.

Starting with an absorbingly interesting situation, Author Kyne and Director E. Mason Hopper have developed it with a feeling for vivacity and drama and for true comedy that makes "Brothers Under the Skin," a moving and entertaining transcript of life as it is often lived by the married. The poor shipping clerk in a plumbing establishment is having the same sort of trouble with his irresponsible wife as it the vice-president of his company. The shipping clerk, obtaining entrance to the wealthy vice president's home on an errand, sees him get the better of his wife (partly as a result of the timely presence of the clerk) and he goes home and does likewise with his helpmate. He proves to her that he means to be master and dictate affairs in his own household. The result is two wives sharing in their husbands' lives and happy in their babies.

THE ELTINGE

A Thrill-A-Minute, Laugh-A-Sec-ond Comedy!

The first seven-reel comedy ever produced!

And Harold Lloyd is the Prince of Sky-Larkers with the Sky the Limit!

All that and more is promised in "Safety Last." It is a feature comedy that is based on a firm foundation, just as the twelve story building that Harold Lloyd climbs is built on a firm foundation. The comedy and the building would both have to be for the gales of laughter that Harold turns loose are enough to rock either.

It is wasting space to mention the popularity of Harold Lloyd, for Popularity and Harold Lloyd mean the same thing. As for "Safety Last" ask anyone the meaning of the two words a bank president, an insurance official, a policeman, a razor-blade salesman, a flagman at a railroad crossing or a dynamiter.

Harold Lloyd in "Safety Last" is the Laugh Dynamo of the Age. He causes rusty laugh glands and frozen faces to blow up and set off Bombs of Mirth for miles around. He attaches an infectious fuse of joy to the diaphragm and he doesn't have to wait long for the explosion. It is inevitable.

Put the outstanding thrills of all the serials ever produced together and they would probably end to end—reach from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but they would not give such hair-raising, hair-raising, laughable north-raising moments of hilarious thrills as are contained in "Safety Last."

"Safety Last" also tells a delightfully human story, the romance of a Boy and a Girl. It shows what a little white lie—all for the cause of Cupid—can cause. There are scenes in a department store that are rich with satire. In fact, "Safety Last" brings laughter first that lasts forever after.

"Safety Last" shows at the Eltinge Theatre today and tomorrow and Wednesday.

Closing Exercises For Bible School Drew Large Crowd

All the well known characters of the Bible in brilliant attire of ancient days appeared on the stage at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon during the closing day exercises for the Vacation Bible School. A beautiful pageant effect was produced, as the various characters representing the books of the Bible and their various famous characters passed across the stage.

Children dressed in toga-like garments of brilliant red, blue, and green, and in white robes, and plain white portrayed the different characters. The scene was witnessed by a large crowd that almost filled the auditorium.

This closing day exercise completed the fourth term of the Vacation Bible school which has been in session since May 28. The children in the grades met at Will school and marched to the auditorium. In charge of the program were Mrs. Fred Hanson, chairman of the program committee, assisted by Mrs. Fanny Dunn Quinn, Miss Laura Little, and Supt. L. R. Johnson.

The program was built about characters of the Bible and was a big undertaking remarkably well worked out in consideration of the short space of time devoted to it. All the books of the Bible were portrayed by characters in costumes representing the prophets, scribes, singers, judges, preachers, and writers of the Bible. Recitations were given from the various books.

The program was divided into two parts:

First the kindergarten and the first and second grades. The children of the kindergarten appeared in one scene before the coming of the scribes seated about their little tables, said their grace, and ate their crackers as they had done each day in school. Three little tots represented the child Samuel in the sanctuary.

The second division of the program consisted of representatives from the upper grades in costume featuring the prophets, judges, leaders, writers of the Old and the New Testaments. For the closing scene Supt. Johnson led the words in Revelations which tell of the new heaven and the new earth after which Mrs. M. C. Schoelkopf sang "The Holy City."

Those teaching and helping during the summer session include the following:

Kindergarten, Miss Laura Little, principal and Elsie Yeasley and Lucille Nebergall; first grade, Mrs. John Hughes; second grade, Miss Helen Will and Mrs. Spencer Boise; third grade, Mrs. J. W. Deemy and Mrs. L. R. Johnson, assisted by Miss Mariel Hunt; fourth grade, Miss B. G. Spohn; fifth grade, Mrs. Fanny Dunn Quinn; sixth grade, Mrs. Fred Hanson; seventh grade, Miss Jennie Giland; eighth grade, Mrs. C. W. Smith; adult, Mrs. L. F. Crawford.

Ball games and other play activities were directed by Mr. J. J. MacLeod, Mrs. Kling, who helped secure directors of play. Among those helping with the play were, Mrs. Perry, Herbert O'Hare, Fred Landers, Barbara Register, Dorothy Birdzell, and others. At various times other helpers were called for substitute teaching. Mrs. Ralph Penner and Mrs. A. W. Schaecker assisted in the absence of Mrs. Deemy each one day. Mrs. Postlethwaite assisted in the second grade until Dr. Postlethwaite's illness.

"We acknowledge the kindness of the papers in printing reports, notices etc for the school, to the churches, Evangelical and Presbyterian for use for chapel services, to the school board for the use of school property, to the janitor Mr. Thompson, for his very courteous service, to the city for the use of the street, to the Association of Commerce for assistance in transportation of children to the picnic grounds," said Rev. Johnson in behalf of all interested in the work.

The school was financed this year by the Sunday schools of the city. Last year the business men financed it. The total enrollment reached 406 with an average daily attendance of 316.

Butler Studio will close from June 14 to June 19 on account of attending the State Christian Endeavor Convention at Dickinson.

FINANCING OF WATER WORKS IS NEXT STEP

Whether there is to be cheaper water in the future is a question. With an investment which may reach $600,000 by the time the plant is improved, there will be an interest charge of probably $35,000, which was more than half of the water company's revenue before the 35 percent increase in rates was granted. If the interest charge is met out of taxation and not out of the water plant earnings it would not, of course, be charged against the water company.

Under the city's plan of financing the bonds will be for 20 years, one twentieth of the principal to be paid every year, so that in 20 years the debt would be wiped out. The paying warrants will be for 10 years. The acquisition of the plant leaves the city of Devils Lake the only city of any size in North Dakota not owning its own water works system. Large, Grand Forks, Valley City, Jamestown, Minot and Mandan have owned their systems for years. Under the terms of the contract the 35 percent increase in rates remains effective as long as the plant is in the hands of private owners and the city will cooperate with the Bismarck Water Supply company in collecting its bills by shutting off water of consumers who do not pay, as requested by the water company.

Whether there is to be cheaper water in the future is a question. With an investment which may reach $500,000 by the time the plant is improved, there will be an interest charge of probably $35,000, which was more than half of the water company's revenue before the 35 percent increase in rates was granted. If the interest charge is met out of taxation and not out of the water plant earnings it would not, of course, be charged against the water company.

Under the city's plan of financing the bonds will be for 20 years, one twentieth of the principal to be paid every year, so that in 20 years the debt would be wiped out. The paying warrants will be for 10 years.

The acquisition of the plant leaves the city of Devils Lake the only city of any size in North Dakota not owning its own water works system. Fargo, Grand Forks, Valley City, Jamestown, Minot and Mandan have owned their systems for years.

Under the terms of the contract the 35 percent increase in rates remains effective as long as the plant is in the hands of private owners and the city will cooperate with the Bismarck Water Supply company in collecting its bills by shutting off water of consumers who do not pay, as requested by the water company.

Flood Provides Swimm' Hole

When waters of the North Canadian swelled recently and surged through the Walnut Grove section of Oklahoma City, Okla., some got out their swimming suits and went in. Five hundred families were made homeless by the flood, which caused $1,000,000 damage and broke all protection levees.

Pioneer of McLean County Is Dead

Washburn, June 11.—John Melin, 68 years of age, died at the home of his nephew Gus Anderson, near Crooked Lake, Friday of last week. Death was due to a complication of diseases. Funeral services were held Saturday and interment was made at the St. Olaf cemetery.

Mr. Melin was one of the first settlers in the county, taking a claim up on Crooked Lake, where he had a ranch ever since he located there. His ranch house stands on what is known as "Dead Man's Point" on Crooked Lake, and is an old landmark to all the old settlers of the county.

The nearest relative of Mr. Melin is his nephew, Gus Anderson, who came here from Sweden and home-

RESERVE BANKS ARE UPHOLD

Methods Used Are Held Lawful by U. S. Supreme Court

Washington, June 11.—Methods used by Federal Reserve Banks in Georgia and Virginia to compel banks not members of that system to cash at par checks drawn upon them by their depositors which required Federal Reserve Banks for collection or clearance were approved by the supreme court today in cases brought against the Federal Reserve Bank at Atlanta, Ga., and Richmond, Va.

Justice Brandeis, delivering the opinion, stated that Congress had imposed on the Federal Reserve Banks the duty to collect all checks at par and did not impose on such banks a duty to introduce clearance against the wishes of some of the banks affected.

Justices Vandervanter and Sutherland dissented.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL

A story of two married couples, contrasting stations of life, these marriages are threatened with divorce due to the wife's desire to have a good time, is told with some dramatic power, with an unimpaired vein of comedy, in "Brothers Under the Skin," a Goldwyn picture by Peter B. Kyne, which goes to the Capitol theatre tonight and tomorrow.

Starting with an absorbingly interesting situation, Author Kyne and Director E. Mason Hopper have developed it with a feeling for veracity and drama and for true comedy that makes "Brothers Under the Skin" a joyous and entertaining transcript of life as it is often lived by the married. The poor shipping clerk and a plumbing establishment is having the same sort of trouble with an irresponsible wife as it the president of his company. The shipping clerk, obtaining entrance to a wealthy vice president's home on a errand, sees him get the better of his wife (partly as a result of his timely presence of the clerk) and he goes home and does likewise with his helpmate. He proves to her that he means to be master and mistress affairs in his own household. The result is two wives sharing in their husbands' lives and happy in their habits.

THE ELTINGE

A Thrill-A-Minute, Laugh-A-Second Comedy!

The first seven-reel comedy ever produced!

And Harold Lloyd is the Prince of Sky-Larkers, with the Sky the Limit!

All that and more is promised in "Safety Last." It is a feature comedy that is based on a firm foundation, just the twelve story building that Harold Lloyd climbs is built on a firm foundation. The comedy and the building would both have to be for the gales of laughter that Harold turns loose are enough to rock either.

It is wasting space to mention the popularity of Harold Lloyd, for popularity and Harold Lloyd mean the same thing. As for "Safety Last," ask anyone the meaning of the two words in bank president, an insurance official, a policeman, a razor-blade salesman, a flagman at a railroad crossing or a dynamiter.

Harold Lloyd in "Safety Last" is the Laugh Dynamo of the Age. He causes tummy laugh glands and frozen faces to blow up and set off Bombs of Mirth for miles around. He attaches an infectious fuse of joy to the diaphragm and he doesn't have to wait long for the explosion. It is inevitable.

Put the outstanding thrills of all the serials ever produced together and they would probably end to end-reach from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but they would not give such hair-raising, hair-raising, laughable hair-raising moments of hilarious thrills as are contained in "Safety Last."

"Safety Last" also tells a delightful human story, the romance of a Boy and a Girl. It shows what havoc a little white lie—all for the cause of Cupid—can cause. There are scenes in a department store that are rich with satire. In fact, "Safety Last" brings laughter first hat lasts forever after.

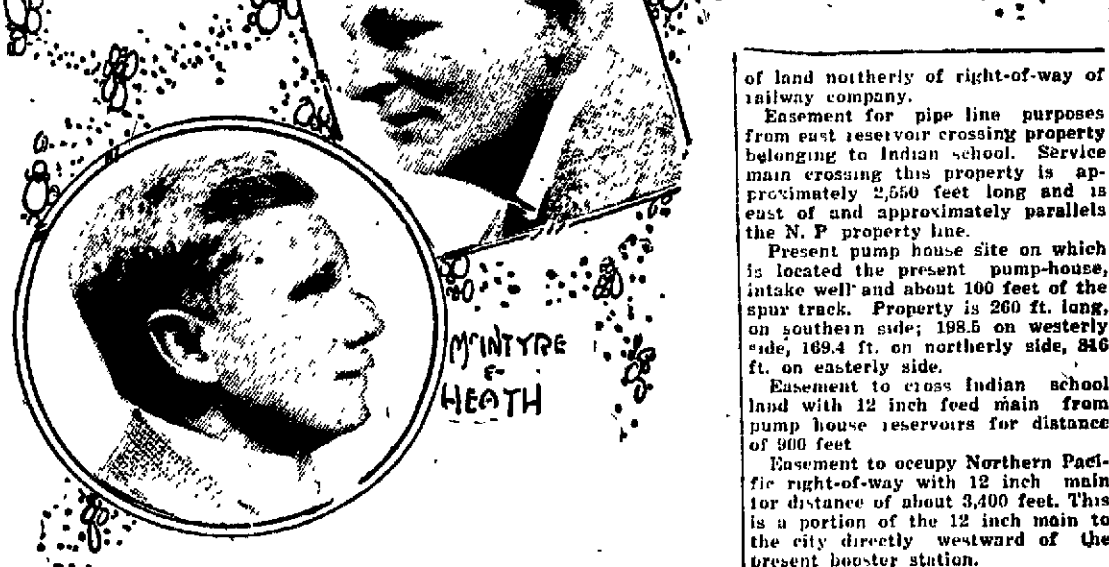

"Safety Last" shows at the Eltinge Theater today and tomorrow and Wednesday.

Closing Exercises For Bible School Drew Large Crowd

All the well known characters of the Bible in brilliant attire of ancient days appeared on the stage at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon during the closing day exercises for the Vacation Bible School. A beautiful pageant effect was produced, as the various characters representing the books of the Bible and their various famous characters passed across the stage.

Children dressed in toga-like garments of brilliant red, blue, and green, parsley shades, and plain white portrayed the different characters. The scene was witnessed by a large crowd that almost filled the auditorium.

This closing day exercise completed the fourth term of the Vacation Bible School which has been in session since May 28. The children in the grades met at Will school and marched to the auditorium. In charge of the program were Mrs. Fred Hanson, chairman of the program committee, assisted by Mrs. Fanny Dunn Quinn, Miss Laura Little, and Supt. L. R. Johnson.

The program was built about characters of the Bible and was a big undertaking remarkably well worked out in consideration of the short space of time devoted to it. All the books of the Bible were portrayed by characters in costumes representing the prophets, scribes, singers, judges, preachers, and writers of the Bible. Recitations were given from the various books.

The program was divided into two parts:

First the kindergarten and the first and second grades. The children of the kindergarten appeared in one scene before the coming of the scribes seated about their little tables, said their grace, and ate their crackers as they had done each day in school. Three little tots represented the child Samuel in the sanctuary.

The second division of the program consisted of representatives from the upper grades in costume featuring the prophets, judges, leaders, writers of the Old and the New Testaments. For the closing scene Supt. Johnson read the words in Revelations which tell of the new heaven and the new earth after which Mrs. M. C. Schoelkopf sang "The Holy City."

Those teaching and helping during the summer session include the following:

Kindergarten, Miss Laura Little, principal and Elsie Vensley and Lucille Nebergall; first grade, Mrs. John Hughes; second grade, Miss Helen Will and Mrs. Spencer Boies; third grade, Mrs. J. W. Deemy and Mrs. L. B. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. M. C. Schoelkopf; fourth grade, Mrs. B. G. Spohn; fifth grade, Mrs. Fanny Dunn Quinn; sixth grade, Mrs. Fred Hanson; seventh grade, Miss Jennie Gillard; eighth grade, Mrs. C. W. Smith; adult, Mrs. L. F. Crawford.

Ball games and other play activities were directed by Mr. J. J. MacLeod, Mrs. Kling. The school had the assistance of Mr. J. J. MacLeod and Mrs. Kling who helped secure directors of play. Among those helping with the play were, Mrs. Perry, Herbert O'Hare, Fred Landers, Barbara Register, Dorothy Birdsell, and others. At various times other helpers were called for substitute teaching. Mrs. Ralph Penner and Mrs. A. W. Schaefer assisted in the absence of Mrs. Deemy each one day. Mrs. Postlethwaite assisted in the second grade until Dr. Postlethwaite's illness.

"We acknowledge the kindness of the papers in printing reports, notices etc for the school, to the churches, Evangelical and Presbyterian for use for chapel services, to the school board for the use of school property, to the janitor Mr. Thompson, for his very courteous services, to the city for the use of the street, to the Association of Commerce for assistance in transportation of children to the picnic grounds," said Rev. Johnson in behalf of all interested in the work.

The school was financed this year by the Sunday schools of the city. Last year the business men financed it. The total enrollment reached 400 with an average daily attendance of 316.

WATER CONTROVERSY SETTLED
Citizens of Bismarck owe a public vote of thanks to the members of the city commission and the special citizens' committee working in cooperation with them for the prompt settlement of the water works controversy. Bids on a new plant guided the commission in their deliberations and the diplomacy and business acumen of George P. Flannery, used to large affairs, aided greatly in arriving at a price on the present plant.

Bismarck is assured now of a modern plant. It is the intention of the City Commission to give this city an adequate supply of water at reasonable rates. Their task has been a hard one and they have toiled zealously to bring about a wise settlement—one that would be fair to the people they represent and at the same time not prejudicial to the vested rights of the Bismarck Water Supply company.

Since the opening of bids for a new plant the city commission and its advisers have displayed an open mind. At no time has the door been shut against negotiations and the spirit of give and take that prevailed throughout augurs well for the future civic spirit of Bismarck.

Settlement of this controversy should prove a turning point for Bismarck. It heralds the cessation of a controversy that waxed bitter at times and militated against that harmony and team work that must obtain if this city is to forge ahead. Purchase of the water plant has removed a great obstacle which has stood in the way of the city's growth. Public clamor for city ownership of the water plant has been insistent and at all stages of the controversy, the city commissioners had a most united electorate behind them.

The price of $265,000, an offer originally made by the city will be approved by the voters generally. It means too the end of expensive litigation and as soon as the details are arranged the city can take over the plant and begin to improve service through additions and much needed extensions. A filtration plant is necessary. There must be more mains and larger ones. Fire protection becomes a paramount issue as well as power equipment so the city can pump its own water independent of any private utility. These plans must be worked out conservatively and in line with best public policy.

Now that the controversy is over something should be said of the work of T. R. Atkinson city engineer. His attitude has been magnified, but the estimates and the bids on the new plant form his vindication.

The time has come to bury the past acrimony and in the heartiest harmony and closest team work strive forward for a bigger and better Bismarck.

JUST WATCH THE NEW SPIRIT DEVELOP IN THE BEST LITTLE CITY IN THE WORLD.

G. AND S.
Gallagher and Shean have buried the ax with Ziegfeld after a long argument (which might have been staged by a clever press agent). This famous comedy team will remain with the New Amsterdam revue in New York City this summer and go on tour with it next autumn.

If you see them, they may look familiar. They are veteran vaudeville performers who never set the town afire until they got the right song: "Absolutely... Positively..." The song made them.

Makes all the difference in the world, whether the rifle delivers buckshot or birdshot. Most of us aim at the big game of life with blank cartridges. This is illustrated by genius—gifted writers having a weakness for writing about nothing.

The whims of the alleged human race are impossible to fathom these days, no matter how long you study psychology. Why did "Absolutely, Mr. Gallagher! Positively, Mr. Shean!" take the country by storm? Somehow it struck the right chord in a jazz period.

We used to have more motive, even intelligence, in our national musical whims, as when Eva Tanguay started epidemics of joy with "I Don't Care" and Bert Williams with "Nobody."

The psychology of today is baffling, probably because today is so close to the borderline of insanity.

JOBS
It looks as if the "big fellows" are expecting the business boom to last longer than the crepe-hangers predict.

The movement of iron ore down the Great Lakes, bound from Lake Superior mines to the iron and steel mills, is continuing at such a heavy rate that experts predict shipments for the 1923 season will be close to 60 million tons. That would be nearly a half more than during 1922. And the wise steel men are not apt to be buying and stocking high-priced ore unless they are reasonably sure of a market for finished products made from the ore.

WAGES
How much money are you making? Enough to have $42.38 left after paying room rent? That's what the average farmhand is getting, according to government investigation. And the figure doesn't include "and board." They pay their board out of the $42.38.

Highest farm wages are in the north Atlantic and New England States—$3 a day without board. Lowest rate is in the south, $1.48. These are average figures. The city man can make interesting comparisons with his own income.

RAISINS
Home brewers will be sorry to learn that 100 million pounds of American raisins are expected to be shipped abroad this year. More than six times as much as before the war. A great, growing industry.

It'd be a lot better for a great many stomachs and nerves if the exports also took the quantity now going into the cellars.

PLENTY OF EXCITEMENT IN SIGHT

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO HER FRIEND, SALLY ATHONTON

DEAR SALLY:
I hope you will not think that I do not sympathize with you over the disaster that has come to Sam but, Sally dear, I did not know what to say. Mere words seem almost insultingly futile.
Beatrice wrote me that you were being forced to shoulder the entire burden of financing your marital ménage.
I do not forget, dear, how good you were to me when you were a big girl in an upper grade in our boarding school and I was a little kiddie, and I know that my mother also has a great and tender feeling toward you for your kindness to me then.
I looked upon you as a regular princess, for your mother and father were alive and you were known as the richest girl in the school. Little did I think that I would ever be writing this letter but, Sally, will you take this just as I offer it? Will you let mother, who is coming here next week, send you a check until you can see your way clear?
Under the same circumstances I know you would do it and surely you do not love me any better than I do you, although we both have been very poor correspondents.
Lovingly,
LESLIE.

Letter From Sally Athonton to Leslie Prescott

I cannot tell you, dear Leslie, how your letter touched me. I thought all my friends had forgotten me, except Bee, and I had grown hard and somewhat wicked. But with your letter there also came the from Vera Stokley. She had heard of my trouble and she sent me her entire allowance for the next three months—at least it was the amount of her allowance when she was in college. Maybe she has more now.
I just sat down and cried, Leslie, and poor old Sam, who was lying on the sofa cried too.
"I've only been a disgrace and grief to you, Sally," he said "Why don't you turn me out in the cold?"
And then I thought of some words that Bee wrote me and something broke up the ice that had surrounded my heart. I knew that I did love Sam and would always love him and would work for him and care for him. I went over to him and pressed my lips upon his sightless eyes and whispered, "For better or for worse."
Oh, Leslie, this being married is a very solemn business, isn't it? No matter how saddened you are, how grieved you are, how angry you are or how tortured you are with it, there is a kind of a band—iron band perhaps. I would call it that keeps drawing you and your husband tighter together. And each day something is always driving in another rivet to make the band stronger.
Although the band chafes and hurts you, when you try to break it, all at once you realize that your husband and yourself are one.
Now Leslie, I have some news which is perhaps not quite hopeless. I took some of Vera's money to pay for the opinion of one of the most noted eye specialists in the country and he tells me that there is a great probability that Sam will regain his sight. Thank God for me, Leslie.
Your grateful
SALLY

FLOWING GOLD

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Calvin Gray arrives in Dallas and declares himself the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, banker. Gray meets Gus Briskow, who strikes oil, and becomes friendly with the Briskow family. Allie, the daughter, loves Gray, who is in love with Barbara Parker. Bud Briskow falls into the hands of an adventurer and Gray follows to send the boy home. Bud and Gray have a fight and the boy is knocked unconscious. The son of Bud's lady friend is brought to Bud's hotel and the adventurer and Bud part company. Gray befriends the girl and starts her in the restaurant business.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
"I thought you were like all the others here—absorbed only in the game."
"I was at first. I had reason to be; a very great reason, I assure you. Then I saw something far more desirable than fortune, far more absorbing than the motive that brought me here. Some days, like today, I think I'm going to win it, then again I grow faint-hearted."

"Never had he felt 'Bob' to be so close to him as on this day, and in consequence he made of it a festival. He played the lover with a respectful ardor, doubly thrilling by reason of its restraint, and that night it was not Henry Nelson's face that lingered last in his memory. He wondered, before he fell asleep, if he had acted wisely in letting slip his hour. Opportunity had a fickle way of jilting those who ignore her, and yet—how could he speak with honor to himself?"

It must not be inferred that Henry Nelson endured with patience the blows that were rained upon him. On the contrary, he fought back with every weapon he could lay hands upon, and there were many. In this he was aided by old Bill, for father and son were much alike and their friction had been only such as results from the rubbing of two hard bodies of identical composition; now that they were put under heavy pressure, they adhered and functioned without heat.

How they managed it at all baffled Gray, and worried him, too, for he knew that if ever they turned the corner they would be safe from him and his vengeance would fall to the ground. One big well would set them up, and there was always that danger for scarcely a week went by without news of some gigantic gusher. Knowing all there was to know about the bank itself and about their method of operating it, this was a task, indeed, and he spent much time at it—time he could ill afford, for the water, for he, too, had almost exhausted his last resource.

He was surprised one day to receive from Roswell, the banker who had first backed him, an almost peremptory summons to Dallas. Gray had made much money for Roswell and his crowd; they were still heavily interested with him and he was counting upon their further support. The tone of this letter, therefore, gave him a disagreeable shock. On the whole, however, he was glad of an excuse to go, for the Briskows had returned and had bought a home in Dallas, and he was eager for a sight of them.

Mr. Roswell's greeting was quite as cool as his letter; but he be trayed a keen interest in the progress of their joint affairs and asked a good many searching questions. Gray answered frankly.

"You surprise me," the banker announced, finally, "for you confirm something I did not wish to believe. I have just learned that you are using us to further a private grudge and to ruin a reputable man. I couldn't credit such a statement without."

"It is quite true, except that I haven't used you. Not at least, in the sense you imply."
"You have used our money. It is the same thing."
"Oh, not at all. I have handled a number of speculations—investments is a better word—for you and your group and I've made a lot of money for you. That's the most you expected; that's all I promised."

"Legitimate competition is one thing; malice, double-dealing, is—"
"Yes, I bear malice toward Henry Nelson and I shall continue to bear him malice long after I have put him in his grave." Roswell's startled eyes leaped to the speaker's face. "Exactly! I propose to put him in his grave, and he knows it."

"Nonsense! That's wild talk and you'll regret it. What has he done to you?"
The object of this inquiry shrugged. "A private matter, purely. As to double dealing—is it double-dealing to go to an enemy and tell him frankly that you intend to do it?"

"Did you do that?"
"I did. What is more, I offered to fight fair and he agreed. But of course, he broke that, as he feels free to break any agreement when it becomes onerous or unprofitable. He began by trying to assassinate me."

"What are you saying?" Roswell cried. "This is incredible."
Gray's cigar had gone out; he lighted it with steady and deliberate fingers before he said: "I am giving you facts. The fighting has not been all on my side. For instance, I haven't hired men to drop tools in his wells or run crooked holes, and that sort of thing, as he has."

"Amazing!" The banker was at a loss for words. After a moment, he inquired, "What about 'Bell' Nelson?"

"A harsh, headstrong, ruthless old man whose history will not bear careful reading. His sins shall be visited upon him through his offspring. He will have to go, too."

"You will fail now. And you deserve to fail."
"Indeed? Why?"
"Because you're doing an outrageous thing; because—see here, Gray, I know why you hate Nelson."

There ensued a moment of silence. "He told you that?" The younger man's face had slowly whitened; he spoke with difficulty.

"He told me everything. He told me that you were dishonorably discharged from the army—cashiered, we used to call it—and that you blame him. I don't mind saying it was a shock—worse, I've had in years, in time of war, too. The army doesn't do that unless—with out ample—Well, Gray, it's damn nasty!"

"Quite the nastiest thing that can happen to a man," the other agreed in a thin, flat voice.

"I couldn't, wouldn't believe it." "There is nothing to say."
"What? My God man! You don't mean—See here, you're not a coward, or a thief, or an incompetent. What's your side of the story? What's the explanation?"

"Explanations are hateful. The man who makes them deceives either himself or the other fellow—usually both. It is easy to be plausible. Would a mere statement from me, unsupported by proof, convince you where it failed to convince a court martial? Of course not."

"It is an embarrassing situation for me."
"Indeed?"
"Nelson has sold a large block of his bank stock to one of our directors."

"Tell him to get out from under, quick," Gray said sharply, "for I'll break Henry Nelson—or I'll kill him!"

"Tut, tut! You're excited. You mustn't talk like that. I give you credit for an honest hatred, but I can't sympathize with it. Neither can I believe so ill of Henry Nelson. Remember, I've known him and Bell for years." With a complete finality the banker concluded, "You'll have to give it up, Gray."

"I beg pardon?"
"I say we shan't permit you to go on with this murderous feud. We can't be parties to it. What you've told me warrants us in withdrawing our support instantly."

"I need your money and your support now more than ever," the other man gravely confessed, "I need it at once; today. Nevertheless, I shan't quit."

"You must!" Roswell cried, impatiently. "You can't defy us."
"The devil I can't!" It was Gray's turn to blaze. "That's exactly what I'm doing. I defy you to get your money out. I defy you to interfere with me in the slightest or to wring a particle of mercy out of me. I knew this would come, sooner or later, and I planned accordingly. What do you think I am, eh? I tell you I've got him! Otherwise he'd never squeal about this—army matter. Now, then, tell your crowd to try and pull out! That's not a threat, sir, for they have played fair with me and I shan't sacrifice a penny of their money—unless they force me to do so. But I'm in control. I'm sitting pretty. They can't unseat me, and I warn them not to try."

The speaker rose. He hesitated, before leaving, to say: "Your son served with honor, Mr. Roswell. I know how you must feel about this—army matter, therefore I shall spare you the embarrassment of declining my hand."

The financier's face reddened; rather stiffly he said, "You know whether you have a right to offer it."

Instantly the departing visitor extended his palm, and Roswell realized that he had seldom seen a man more deeply moved. "Thanks! I am a fellow to lose your support, but nothing can swerve me. Meanwhile, I'm glad that we do not part as enemies."

When he had gone, when he had passed out with head up and shoulders square, the banker shivered slightly. Audibly he murmured: "God what a man! What a hatred!"

The Briskows had just moved in to their new home, and the place was still in some confusion when Gray mounted the steps. Pa an him the bell in his shirt sleeves and with a clam hammer in his hand, for he had been hanging pictures. He favored his visitor with a wide smile of welcome and a hearty greeting—quite a feat, inasmuch as his mouth was full of nails, then, having rid it of its contents, he explained:

Social and Personal

Dr. and Mrs. La Rose Entertain at a Pre-Nuptial Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. V. J. LaRose of 522 Sixth street entertained at their home at an elaborate pre-nuptial dinner Saturday evening at 8 o'clock complimentary to Miss Mary McGillicuddy of Mandan whose marriage to Jerome Murphy of Mandan will take place June 20.

Floral and table decorations were charmingly carried out in white and gold, ferns and yellow roses forming an artistic background over which candle light softly played as the guests entered the dining room. A beautiful miniature altar lighter with six candles occupied the center of the table. Above the altar before which stood a bride couple and a priest in white surplices, suspended a large wedding veil festooned with lilies of the valley. Covers were laid for twelve guests and the place cards were charming little affairs bearing the picture of a bride led by cupid. A six course dinner was served.

The guests were relatives and friends of the honor guests and included Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McGillicuddy, Mr. and Mrs. James H. McGillicuddy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGillicuddy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald, and Jerome Murphy, all of Mandan. During the past few weeks a number of social affairs have been given in honor of Miss McGillicuddy who is a popular member of the younger social set.

Surprise Friends With House Warming

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ryan were delightfully surprised at their home on 21 W. Thayer street by twenty of their friends Saturday evening. Those taking part in the program were Dorothy Tiedman, Audrey Rohrer, Eleanor Mann, Effie Rosen, Merle Smart, Jean Setser, Phyllis Rosen, Vernice Smart, Anna David, Wm. Lahr, Jr., Louise Berndt, Betty Dunham, and Dorothy Skeels. The playing of the different students reflected great credit upon their teachers for the training they had received.

IF YOU'VE SLEEVES AT ALL, THEY MUST BE BIZARRE

Where sleeves exist at all on summer dresses they are startling, bizarre or gaily frilled. Present or absent they are the important thing about the season's styles.

The long tight sleeve has added ruffles from wrist to elbow. The otherwise sleeveless frock is shown with a circular band attached to the dress and crossing the arm several inches below the shoulder. Long wide sleeves vary their lines by being cut to gracefully drooping points.

Skirts draped continue in favor and pleated panels are seen more and more as the season advances.

WATER CONTROVERSY SETTLED

Citizens of Bismarck owe a public vote of thanks to the members of the city commission and the special citizens' committee working in cooperation with them for the prompt settlement of the water works controversy. Bids on a new plant guided the commission in their deliberations and the diplomacy and business acumen of George P. Flannery, used to large affairs, aided greatly in arriving at a price on the present plant.

Bismarck is assured now of a modern plant. It is the intention of the City Commission to give this city an adequate supply of water at reasonable rates. Their task has been a hard one and they have toiled zealously to bring about a wise settlement—one that would be fair to the people they represent and at the same time not prejudicial to the vested rights of the Bismarck Water Supply company.

Since the opening of bids for a new plant the city commission and its advisers have displayed an open mind. At no time has the door been shut against negotiations and the spirit of give and take that prevailed throughout augurs well for the future civic spirit of Bismarck.

Settlement of this controversy should prove a turning point for Bismarck. It heralds the cessation of a controversy that waxed bitter at times and militated against that harmony and team work that must obtain if this city is to forge ahead. Purchase of the water plant has removed a great obstacle which has stood in the way of the city's growth. Public clamor for city ownership of the water plant has been insistent and at all stages of the controversy, the city commissioners had a most united electorate behind them.

The price of $265,000, an offer originally made by the city will be approved by the voters generally. It means the end of expensive litigation and as soon as the details are arranged the city can take over the plant and begin to improve service through additions and much needed extensions.

A filtration plant is necessary. There must be more mains and larger ones. Fire protection becomes a paramount issue as well as power equipment so the city can pump its own water independent of any private utility. These plans must be worked out conservatively and in line with best public policy.

Now that the controversy is over something should be said of the work of T. R. Atkinson city engineer. His attitude has been maligned, but the estimates and the bids on the new plant form his vindication.

The time has come to bury the past acrimony and in the heartiest harmony and closest team work strive forward for a bigger and better Bismarck.

JUST WATCH THE NEW SPIRIT DEVELOP IN THE BEST LITTLE CITY IN THE WORLD.

G. AND S.

Gallagher and Shean have buried the ax with Ziegfeld after a long argument (which might have been staged by a clever press agent). This famous comedy team will remain with the New Amsterdam revue in New York City this summer and go on tour with it next autumn.

If you see them, they may look familiar. They are veteran vaudeville performers who never set the town afire until they got the right song: "Absolutely... Positively..." The song made them.

Makes all the difference in the world, whether the rifle delivers buckshot or birdshot. Most of us aim at the big game of life with blank cartridges. This is illustrated by genius—gifted writers having a weakness for writing about nothing.

The whims of the alleged human race are impossible to fathom these days, no matter how long you study psychology. Why did "Absolutely, Mr. Gallagher! Positively, Mr. Shean!" take the country by storm? Somehow it struck the right chord in a jazz period.

We used to have more motive, even intelligence, in our national musical whims, as when Eva Tanguay started epigrams of joy with "I Don't Care" and Bert Williams with "Nobody."

The psychology of today is baffling, probably because today is so close to the borderline of insanity.

JOBS

It looks as if the "big fellows" are expecting the business boom to last longer than the crepe-hangers predict.

The movement of iron ore down the Great Lakes, bound from Lake Superior mines to the iron and steel mills, is continuing at such a heavy rate that experts predict shipments for the 1923 season will be close to 60 million tons. That would be nearly a half more than during 1922. And the wise steel men are not apt to be buying and stocking high-priced ore unless they are reasonably sure of a market for finished products made from the ore.

WAGES

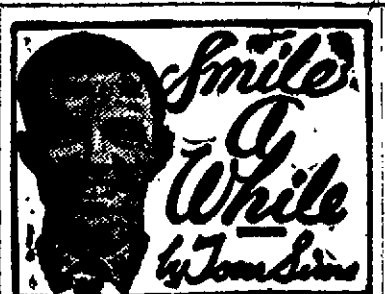

How much money are you making? Enough to have $42.38 left after paying room rent? That's what the average farmhand is getting, according to government investigation. And the figure doesn't include "and board." They pay, their board out of the $42.38.

Highest farm wages are in the north Atlantic and New England States—$3 a day without board. Lowest rate is in the south, $1.48. These are average figures. The city man can make interesting comparisons with his own income.

RAISINS

Home brewers will be sorry to learn that 100 million pounds of American raisins are expected to be shipped abroad this year. More than six times as much as before the war. A great, growing industry.

It'd be a lot better for a great many stomachs and nerves if the exports also took the quantity now going into the cellars.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Toot! Toot! went the Choo-Choo Express.

And away it rattled, leaving Game Town far behind.

Nancy and Nick looked out of the window at the fences and trees flying by and thought they had never had such a nice ride.

"What is the next stop?" Nick asked when Mister Punch, the conductor came along.

"Doll Town," said Mister Punch. "Oh, good!" cried Nancy. "I'm just sure we shall find Ruby Joan, my lost rag doll, there!"

"I hope you will," said Mister Punch kindly. "I'll tell Mister Toots, the engineer, to wait as long as he can so you will have time to look."

Pretty soon the train stopped and the Twins got off.

A policeman old stood on the platform of the station so they went up and asked him if he had seen Ruby Joan.

"She's all patch-work with paint ed hair and polka-dot stockings," explained Nancy.

"Well, if she looks like that, no doubt she has gone to the French doll to ask for some new clothes," said the policeman old.

The French doll has lots of style and everybody goes to her for advice.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO HER FRIEND, SALLY ATHERTON

DEAR SALLY:
I hope you will not think that I do not sympathize with you over the disaster that has come to Sam, but, Sally dear, I did not know what to say. More words seem almost insultingly futile.

Benjamin wrote me that you were being forced to shoulder the entire burden of financing your marital menage.

I do not forget, dear, how good you were to me when you were a big girl in an upper grade in our boarding school and I was a little kiddie, and I know that my mother also has a great and tender feeling toward you for your kindness to me then.

I looked upon you as a regular princess, for your mother and father were alike and you were known as the richest girl in the school. Little did I think that I would ever be writing this letter but, Sally, will you take this just as I offer it? Will you let mother, who is coming here next week, send you a check until you can see your way clear?

Under the same circumstances I know you would do it and surely you do not love me any better than I do you, although we both have been very poor correspondents.

Love, LESLIE.

Letter from Sally Atherton to Leslie Prescott
I cannot tell you, dear Leslie, how your letter touched me. I thought all my friends had forgotten me, except Bee, and I had grown hard and somewhat wicked. But with your letter there also came one from Vera Stockley. She had heard of my trouble and she sent me her entire allowance for the next three months—at least it was the amount of her allowance when she was in college. Maybe she has more now.

I just sat down and cried, Leslie, and poor old Sam, who was lying on the sofa cried too.

"I've only been a disgrace and grief to you, Sally," he said "Why don't you turn me out in the cold?"

And then I thought of some word that Bee wrote me and something broke up the ice that had surrounded my heart. I knew that I did love Sam and would always love him and would work for him and care for him. I went upon his sightless eyes and whispered, "For better or for worse."

Oh, Leslie, this being married is a very solemn business, isn't it? No matter how saddened you are, how grieved you are, how angry you are or how tortured you are with it, there is a kind of a band—iron band perhaps, I would call it—that keeps drawing you and your husband tighter together. And each day something is always driving in another rivet to make the band stronger.

Although the band chafes and hurts you, when you try to break it, all at once you realize that your husband and yourself are one.

Now Leslie, I have some news which is perhaps not quite hopeless. I took some of Vera's money to pay for the opinion of one of the most noted eye specialists in the country and he tells me that there is a great probability that Sam will regain his sight. Thank God for me, Leslie.

Your grateful SALLY

COMMENCEMENT Week Opened At Jamestown
Jamestown, N. D., June 9.—Commencement exercises at Jamestown

GLOVES AND STOCKINGS
It is quite the proper thing to do these days to match your gloves and stockings, particularly if you are wearing a strictly tailored suit.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Calvin Gray arrives in Dallas and declares himself the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, banker. Gray visits upon him through his attorney, Gus Briskow, who strikes oil, and becomes friendly with the Briskow family. Allie, the daughter, loves Gray, who is in love with Barbara Parker. Bud Briskow falls into the hands of an adventuress and Gray follows to send the boy home. Bud and Gray have a fight and the boy is knocked unconscious. The son of Bud's lady friend is brought to Bud's hotel and the adventuress and Bud part company. Gray befriends the girl and starts her in the restaurant business.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY
"I thought you were like all the others here—absorbed only in the game."
"I was at first. I had reason to be; a very great reason. I assure you. Then I saw something far more desirable than fortune, far more absorbing than the motive that brought me here. Some days, like today, I think I'm going to win it, then again I grow faint-hearted."

"Never had I felt 'Bob' to be so close to him as on this day, and in consequence he made of it a festival. He played the lover with a respectful air, doubly thrilling by reason of its restraint, and that night it was not Henry Nelson's face that lingered last in his memory. He wondered, before he fell asleep, if he had acted wisely in letting slip his hour. Opportunity has a flicker of jilting those who ignore her, and yet—how could he speak with honor to himself?"

It must not be inferred that Henry Nelson endured with patience the blows that were rained upon him. On the contrary, he fought back with every weapon he could lay hands upon, and there were many. In this he was aided by Old Bell, for father and son were much alike and their friction had been only such as results from the rubbing of two hard bodies of identical composition; now that they were put under heavy pressure, they adhered and functioned without heat.

How they managed it at all baffled Gray, and worried him, too, for he knew that if ever they turned the corner they would be safe from him and his vengeance would fall to the ground. One big well would set them up, and there was always that danger for scarcely a week went by without news of some gigantic gusher. Knowing all there was to know about their field activities, he set himself to the task of learning more about the bank itself and about their method of operating it. This was a task, indeed, and he spent much time at it—time he could ill afford, by the way, for he, too, had about exhausted his last resource.

He was surprised one day to receive from Roswell, the banker who had first backed him, an almost peremptory summons to Dallas. Gray had made much money for Roswell and his crowd; they were still heavily interested with him and he was counting upon their further support. The tone of this letter, therefore, gave him a disagreeable shock. On the whole, however, he was glad of an excuse to go, for the Briskows had returned and had bought a home in Dallas, and he was eager for a sight of them.

Mr. Roswell's greeting was quite as cool as his letter; but he betrayed a keen interest in the progress of their joint affairs and asked a good many searching questions. Gray answered frankly.

"You surprise me," the banker announced, finally, for you confirm something I did not wish to believe. I have just learned that you are using us to further a private grudge and to ruin a reputable man. I couldn't credit such a statement without—"

"It is quite true, except that I haven't used you. Not, at least, in the sense you imply."

"You have used our money. It is the same thing."

"Oh, not at all. I have handled a number of speculations—investments is a better word—for you and your group and I've made a lot of money for you. That's the most you expected; that's all I promised."

"Legitimate competition is one thing; malice, double-dealing, is—"

"Yes, I bear malice toward Henry Nelson and I shall continue to bear him malice long after I have put him in his grave." Roswell's startled eyes leaped to the speaker's face. "Exactly! I propose to put him in his grave, and he knows it."

"Nonsense! That's wild talk and you'll regret it. What has he done to you?"

The object of this inquiry shrugged. "A private matter, purely. As to double dealing—is it double-dealing to go to an enemy and tell him frankly that you intend to do it?"

"Did you do that?"

"I did. What is more, I offered to fight fair and he agreed. But of course, he broke that, as he feels free to break any agreement when it becomes onerous or unprofitable. He began by trying to assassinate me."

"What are you saying?" Roswell cried. "This is incredible."

Gray's cigar had gone out. He lighted it with steady and deliberate fingers before he said: "I am giving you facts. The fighting has not been all on my side. For instance, I haven't hired men to drop tools in his wells or run crooked holes, and that sort of thing, as he has."

"Amazing!" the banker was at a loss for words. After a moment, he inquired, "What about 'Bell' Nelson?"

"A harsh, headstrong, ruthless old man whose history will not bear careful reading. His sins shall be visited upon him through his attorney. He will have to go, too."

"You will fail now. And you deserve to fail."

"Indeed? Why?"

"Because you're doing an outrageous thing; because—See here, Gray, I know why you hate Nelson."

There ensued a moment of silence. "He told you that?" The younger man's face had slowly whitened; he spoke with difficulty.

"He told me everything. He told me that you were dishonorably discharged from the army—because we used to call it—and that you blame him. I don't mind saying it was a shock—worst I've had in years. In time of war, too! The army doesn't do that unless s—without ample—Well, Gray, it's a damn nasty!"

"Quite the nastiest thing that can happen to a man," the other agreed in a thin, flat voice.

"I couldn't, wouldn't believe it."

"There is nothing to say."

"What? My God! You don't mean—See here, you're not a coward, or a thief, or an incompetent. What's your side of the story? What's the explanation?"

"Explanations are hateful. The man who makes them deceives either himself or the other fellow—usually both. It is easy to be plausible. Would a more statement from me, unsupported by proof, convince you where it failed to convince a court martial? Of course not."

"Hm—It is an embarrassing situation for me."

"Indeed?"

"Nelson has sold a large block of his bank stock to one of our direct—"

"Tell him to get out from under, quick," Gray said sharply, "for I'll break Henry Nelson or—I'll kill him!"

"Tut, tut! You're excited. You mustn't talk like that. I give you credit for an honest hatred, but I can't sympathize with it. Neither can I believe so ill of Henry Nelson. Remember, I've known him and Bell for years." With a complete finality the banker concluded, "You'll have to give it up, Gray."

"I beg pardon?"

"I say we shan't permit you to go on with this murderous feud. We can't be parties to it. What you've told me warrants us in withdrawing our support instantly."

"I need your money and your support now more than ever," the other man gravely confessed. "I need it at once; today. Nevertheless, I shan't quit."

"You must!" Roswell cried, impatiently. "You can't defy us."

"The devil I can't!" It was Gray's turn to blaze. "That's exactly what I'm doing. I defy you to interfere with me in the slightest of ways. I'm writing a particle of money to you. I knew this would come, sooner or later, and I planned accordingly. What if you think I am, eh? I tell you I've got him! Otherwise he'll never squeal about this—my matter. Now then, tell your crowd to try and pull out! That's not a threat, sir, for they have played fair with me, and I shan't sacrifice a penny of their money—unless they force me to do so. But—I'm in control. I'm sitting pretty. They can't unseat me, and I warn them not to try."

The speaker rose. He hesitated, before leaving to say: "Your son served with me, Mr. Roswell. I know how you must feel about this—other matter, therefore I shall spare you the embarrassment of declining my hand."

The financier's face reddened; rather stiffly he said, "You know whether you have a right to offer it."

Instantly the departing visitor extended his palm, and Roswell realized that he had seldom seen a man more deeply moved. "Thank!" It is a blow to lose your support, but nothing can swerve me. Meanwhile, I'm glad that we do not part as enemies."

"When he had gone, when he had passed out with head up and shoulders square, the banker shivered slightly. Audibly he murmured: "God what a man! What a hatred!"

The Briskows had just moved into their new home, and the place was still in some confusion when Gray mounted the steps. An answered the bell in his shirt sleeves and with a claw hammer in his hand, for he had been hanging pictures. He favored his visitor with a wide smile of welcome and a hearty greeting—quite a feat, might be said, as his mouth was full of nails—then, having rid it of its contents, he explained:

"TWINS" TAKE 2 GAMES FROM CAPITAL CLUB

Win Saturday and Sunday Contests, Overcoming Local Pitching Both Games

SUNDAY CONTEST GOOD

Pickering's "Twins" have been known as the hard luck club of the North Dakota State League. In the first series with Jamestown, the team lost some close games and tied two. In Minot they also lost some close ones and tied one. It begins to look like their luck is changing in Bismarck. After losing two games here, the "Twins" hammered out a victory on Saturday evening and repeated Sunday before a big crowd at the local ball park. The Capitals have one more chance to get the edge on the series, playing this evening at 6:15. The local club then goes to New Rockford for a series.

Sunday's game was worth watching, even if the home team did lose, for there was some sparkling fielding in the game. It marked Charley Boardman's first defeat of the season. He wasn't right, being wild and unable to put all his stuff on the ball and still keep it over the plate. Running, who has been with the "Twins" only a few days has started twice and been wilder than a March hare each time. "Bill" Keegan, a southpaw who is the property of the Minneapolis American Association Club, relieved him and pitched good ball. Tom Jennings, who relieved Boardman, also pitched fine ball, and the game was interesting to the finish.

The "Twins" scored in the first. Kennedy got a single. Ennis sacrificed him. Ramage went out, Condon to Noll. Ramage taking third. "Chief" Jude was at bat. Dougan threw to third to catch Kennedy and did something he doesn't often do, heaved the ball into left field. Jude walked but Seibold fouled out to Dougan.

The third inning furnished the "Twins" big frame. Running, first man up, got a two bagger in right center. Kennedy was hit by Boardman. Ennis walked. Ramage was called out of strikes, protesting the decision. "Chief" Jude smashed one to right center for three bases, scoring three ahead of him. He scored on a wild pitch.

Score in Fourth

The Capitals scored in the fourth. Dougan walked. Bernier walked. Jennings hit into a double play. Noll singled and Dougan scored.

The seventh inning big for the Capitals. Zart went out. Myers to Pickering. Nord dropped one in center field. Condon singled. Randall singled and Nord scored on a double steal attempt. Randall was called out at second and Condon scored. Shanley and Dougan walked. Bernier struck out. This ended the capital's scoring.

Randall got a single in the ninth with one down, but a new rally failed. Shanley hit a hot line, but was out. Bernier's mits on third, and Ennis made a nice running catch near the left-field foul line of Dougan's blow.

Wildness seems to be striking most all of the pitchers. Running failed two days in succession because of this. Yesterday he passed four. Keegan four. Boardman the same but Jennings only gave one free trip.

There was a nice Sunday crowd of probably 700 out, but not as large as it should be.

The crowd kicked a good deal on Umpire Pleva's decisions, particularly on Dougan's drive to left which he called foul and which looked fair from the stands. Pleva was umpiring bases which cut him out of direct line. He retorted later to criticisms that if the local management spent 50 cents for some white-wash to mark the foul lines the umpire wouldn't have to guess. Not a bad idea!

Pickering has done some shifting which gives him a pretty smooth working ball club. Myers, formerly on first, went to third Saturday and showed up well. Kennedy replacing Ennis at second. With Pickering on first and Ramage on short-stop the "Twins" have a good infield. If his southpaws get out of the wild streak Pickering is going to have one of the hardest teams in the league to beat. Lauber was not in left, Ennis took his place. The former, it was said, was suspended by Pickering for breaking training rules.

Pickering got a new one to kick about Saturday evening. He claimed some Bismarck fan sitting in his automobile was turning his spotlight on the "Twins" in the field.

"Conny" Condon, the Capitals short, had 10 chances without error Sunday—a nice day's work for any shortstop.

Al Bernier with Bismarck reminds some fans in his stature of Al Anderson here two years ago. Anderson by the way, is pitching with Bloomington, Ill. in the Three-Eye league.

Umpire Pleva had an unusual play Saturday evening when a ball was claimed by Pitcher Ryan. He made the ball, technically, but it didn't count because no one was on

SMASHING A WORLD RECORD

Here's Eugene Goodwill of University High School, Chicago, setting a new intercollegiate mark in the 229-yard dash, reaching the tape in 21.25 seconds. In the 100-yard event, he tied the 9.45 record of Chuck Hoyt of Grinnell made in 1913.

The rule reads: "The batter never goes to first base on a balk and there cannot be a balk when there is no runner on the bases."

Ryan Pitches Well
Steady pitching by Ryan, one of the two southpaws on Pickering's staff, and hard batting gave the visitors Saturday's game, 9 to 3. After Bernier was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning, Manager Shanley, not wishing to call on Jennings, who pitched Friday or on Boardman, who was slated to pitch Sunday, went in the box himself. Ryan struck out 11 Bismarck men. The locals had five left hand batters against the port sider, but the right-hand batters appeared to have the harder time with the tow-headed finger's lants.

WESTERNERS ARE GOING STRONG IN NATIONALS

Also Doing Better Than Holding Their Own in the American League

Chicago, June 11.—The west is on the ascension in the National league and is doing better than holding its own in the Americans.

With tons of confidence the East-to the West and were surprised and discomfited last week. Should the teams west of the Alleghenies continue to display the strength they have shown recently it would not be surprising to see three of them in the first division before another week-end, and in first place shortly after.

That the New York Giants can be beaten was shown by both the Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates did it once after spending some of its strength after trouncing the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Giants and Pirates will resume their struggle today, having rested yesterday, their series now being even. The biggest surprise of the week was the rise of the Chicago Cubs, who took two out of three from the Giants and with yesterday's 3 to 0 victory made it three straight over Boston.

St. Louis, which was prevented by rain from playing Brooklyn yesterday also made an exceptional good showing, being in strong position to come back after losing one to the Robins.

Cincinnati, after a flash of strength two weeks ago had come again to the fore, and much of the credit is due to Adolph Luque, the Cuban twirler, who won his seventh game out of eight starts yesterday, beating Philadelphia 2 to 1.

One of the most remarkable games of the season was played before a crowd of 50,000 at the Yankee Stadium, Cleveland losing to New York in an exciting ninth inning finish, despite four home runs by Indian sluggers.

Features of the game were a home run by Elmer Smith, pinch hitting for Everett Scott, which tied the score, a wallop by Aaron Ward with three on in the ninth that won the game and a circus catch by Babe Ruth, robbing Joe Sewall of a home run. The victory put the Yankees 4 1-2 games ahead of Philadelphia, which did not play.

Repetition today of their play yesterday and the Washington Senators will step over the St. Louis Browns. The Senators' victory, 5 to 3, split the series.

GIBBONS GOES IN HEAVY FOR ROAD TRAINING

Tommy Admits He's Got To Use All Science Possible Against Dempsey

Shelby, Mont., June 11.—Tom Gibbons is scientific.

Everything he is doing to get in step for Jack Dempsey July Fourth has a good reason wired to it.

The roadwork which he is diligently partaking of isn't merely a jog through the Shelby foothills. Every morning between eight and nine he bats off five miles of the stuff.

There's nothing helter-skelter about the way he does it.

Tom figures it this way—You box three minutes and rest one in the ring. In his road jog he runs for three minutes and walks one.

"I figure this way of doing adjusts my muscles and heart to actual exertion in the ring," says Tom. "When I started to box they told me that roadwork was part of a fighter's program. But I wanted to know why."

"I was told that it was the proper thing to do and all that, but such an explanation didn't satisfy me. I was curious. Other boxers told me it was to develop my legs and wind. So I thought it over and worked out my own system."

"Five miles goes at top speed for three minutes and then takes a one minute rest."

"While you are exercising violently your blood shoots around your body fast, too."

"When you rest, your blood slows down."

"The heart action adjusts itself accordingly. So I have worked out the roadwork schedule to conform to actual fighting time."

"Five miles on the road corresponds to the 15-round route, the length of my big battle with Dempsey."

"Aside from these reasons for road stuff, it toughens my legs."

"Legs are just as important as arms in fighting. It's when the legs weaken that you lose your judge of distance and the hardest punch in the world doesn't mean anything unless it connects at the right spot at the right time."

"I've noticed baseball pitchers. They go along great for a few innings, then all at once they can't locate the plate."

"Their arms often aren't to blame at all. It's their legs that weaken and upbalance their pitching judge of distance."

"I never had but a few 15-round fights."

"A lot of them were scheduled for that route—but they didn't go that far."

"So when I fight Dempsey my legs are going to be in just as good shape as my arms."

MINOT TAKES GAME IN 10th

Jamestown, June 11.—Minot defeated Jamestown in a ten-inning thriller here Sunday, the fans getting their money's worth although they saw the home team lose a heart-breaking contest.

The Jamestown team, reinforced with Clark catching and Wingfield, who played third, adding hitting strength, went out to win behind "Buck" Enger. The score was tied up by Jamestown in the ninth inning when it stood 4 to 2 in Minot's favor.

Rapala was put in the box in the tenth, but Minot landed hard and scored four runs in her half. Jamestown failed to rally.

Rain prevented Saturday's contest. Sunday's game:
Minot..... 000 000 103 4-8 9 0
Jamestown 100 010 002 0-4 13 4

Batteries: Leifer and Worner. Enger, Rapala and Clark.

Wingfield, who joined the Jamestown club, played third base for the Jimkots Sunday at Jamestown. Clark, the new catcher, was with the Jamestown team. Manager Hester of the Minot club, in addition to getting put out of the game there Friday, drew the $10 fine that went with it.

It is reported that Worner, the Minot boy who is catching for the magicians, will quit the team, returning to his job in Minot and that Casey, a Seattle man, will catch for Minot.

The South Dakota League is having a hot race, there being four clubs in that league as the North Dakota League. Aberdeen went into the lead the other day. The teams in the league are Mitchell, Aberdeen, Sioux Falls, and Watertown.

Manager Earl Pickering of the New Rockford-Carrington team declares that the experiment of having one team represent two towns as far away as New Rockford and Carrington, almost 20 miles, is proving a success. The fans are loyal and turn out good crowds, he says.

Should New Rockford-Carrington defeat Bismarck today and Jamestown lose, the "Twins" will go out of last place.

"TWINS" TAKE 2 GAMES FROM CAPITAL CLUB

Win Saturday and Sunday Contests, Overcoming Local Pitching Both Games

SUNDAY CONTEST GOOD

Patrons of "Twins" have been known as the hard luck club of the North Dakota State League. In the first series with Jamestown, the team lost some close games and tied one. It began to look like their luck was changing in Bismarck. After losing two games here, the "Twins" hammered out a victory on Saturday evening, and repeated Sunday before a big crowd at the local ball park. The Capitals have one more chance to get the edge on the series, playing this evening at 6:15. The local club then goes to New Rockford for a series.

Sunday game was worth watching, even if the home team did lose, for there was some sparkling fielding in the game. It marked Charley Boardman's first defeat of the season. He wasn't right, being wild and unable to put all his stuff on the ball and still keep it over the plate. Running, who has been with the "Twins" only a few days has started twice and been wilder than a March hare. Each time "Bill" Keegan, a southpaw who is the property of the Minneapolis American Association club, relieved him and pitched good ball. Tom Jennings, who relieved Boardman, also pitched fine ball and the game was interesting to the finish.

The "Twins" scored in the first. Kennedy got a single. Ennis sacrificed him. Ramage went out, Condon to Noll, Kennedy taking third. "Hot" Jude was at bat. Dougan threw to third to catch Kennedy and did something he doesn't often do, heaved the ball into left field. Jude walked but Schoold fouled out to Dougan.

The third inning furnished the "Twins" big frame. Running, first man up, got a two-bagger in right center. Kennedy was hit by Boardman. Ennis walked. Ramage was called out of strikes, protesting the decision. "Chief" Jude smashed one to right center for three bases, scoring three ahead of him. He scored on a wild pitch.

Score in Fourth

The Capitals scored in the fourth. Dougan walked. Bernier walked. Jennings hit into a double play. Noll singled and Dougan scored.

The evening loomed big for the Capitals. Zart went out, Myers to Pickering. Nord dropped one in center field. Condon singled. Randall singled and scored on a double steal attempt. Randall was called out at second and Condon scored. Shanley and Dougan walked. Bernier struck out. This ended the Capital's scoring.

Randall got a single in the ninth with one down, but a new rally failed. Shanley hit a hot liner directed into Myers' mitt on third, and Ennis made a nice running catch near the left field foul line of Dougan's blow.

Without seem to be taking most all of the pitchers. Running failed two days in succession because of the "Y" today he passed four. Keegan in four, Boardman the same but Jennings only gave one free trip.

There was a nice Sunday crowd of probably 700 out, but not as large as it should be.

The crowd kicked a good deal on Umpire Pleva's decision, particularly on Dougan's drive to left which he called foul and which looked fair from the stands. Pleva was umpiring here when put him out of direct line. He retorted later to critics in that if the local management paid 50 cents for some white-wash to mark the foul lines the umpire wouldn't have to guess. Not a bad deal.

Pickering has done some shifting which gives him a pretty smooth working ball club. Myers, formerly on first, went to third Saturday and showed up well. Kennedy replacing Ennis at second. With Pickering on first and Ramage on short-stop the "Twins" have a good infield. If his southpaws get out of the wild streak Pickering is going to have one of the hardest teams in the league to beat. Lauber was not in left, Ennis took his place. The former, it was said, was suspended by Pickering for breaking training rules.

Pickering got a new one to kick about Saturday evening. He claimed some Bismarck fan sitting in his automobile was turning his spotlight on the "Twins" in the field.

"Conny" Condon, the Capitals short, had 10 chances without error Sunday—a nice day's work for any shortstop.

Al Bernier with Bismarck reminds some fans in his stature of Al Anderson here two years ago. Anderson by the way, is pitching with Bloomington, Ill in the Three-Eye league.

Umpire Pleva had an unusual play Saturday evening when a ball was claimed off Pitcher Ryan. He made the ball, technically, but it didn't count because no one was on

Steady pitching by Ryan, one of the two southpaws on Pickering's staff, and hard batting gave the Capitals Sunday's game, 9 to 3. WESTERNERS ARE GOING STRONG IN NATIONALS

Also Doing Better Than Holding Their Own in the American League

Chicago, June 11.—The west is on the ascension in the National league and is doing better than holding its own in the Americans.

With tons of confidence the East to the West and were surprised and discomfited last week. Should the teams west of the Alleghenies continue to display the strength they have shown recently it would not be surprising to see three of them in the first division before another week-end, and in first place shortly after.

That the New York Giants can be beaten was shown by both the Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates did it once after spending some of its strength after trouncing the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Giants and Pirates will resume their struggle today having rested yesterday, their series now being even. The biggest surprise of the week was the rise of the Chicago Cubs, who took two out of three from the Giants and with yesterday's 3 to 0 victory made it three straight over Boston.

St. Louis, which was prevented by rain from playing Brooklyn yesterday also made an exceptional good showing, being in strong position to come back after losing one to the Robins.

Cincinnati, after a flash of strength two weeks ago had come again to the fore, and much of the credit is due to Adolph Luque, the Cuban twirler, who won his seventh game out of eight starts yesterday, heating Philadelphia 2 to 1.

One of the most remarkable games of the season was played before a crowd of 50,000 at the Yankee Stadium, Cleveland losing to New York in an exciting ninth inning finish, despite four home runs by Indian sluggers.

Features of the game were a home run by Elmer Smith, pinch hitting for Everett Scott, which tied the score, a walkoff by Aaron Ward with three on in the ninth that won the game, and a circus catch by Babe Ruth, robbing Joe Sewall of a home run. The victory put the Yankees 4 1-2 games ahead of Philadelphia, which did not play.

Repetition today of their play yesterday and the Washington Senators will step over the St. Louis Browns. The Senators' victory, 5 to 3, split the series.

GIBBONS GOES IN HEAVY FOR ROAD TRAINING

Tommy Admits He's Got To Use All Science Possible Against Dempsey

Shelby, Mont., June 11.—Tom Gibbons is scientific.

Everything he is doing to get in step for Jack Dempsey July Fourth has a good reason wired to it.

The roadwork which he is diligently partaking of isn't merely a jog through the Shelby foothills. Every morning between eight and nine he bats off five miles of the stuff.

There's nothing helter-skelter about the way he does it.

Tom figures it this way—You box three minutes and rest one in the ring. In his road jogs he runs for three minutes and walks one.

"I figure this way of doing ed-justs my muscles and heart to actual exerting in the ring," says Tom.

When I started to box they told me that roadwork was part of a fighter's program. But I wanted to know why.

"I was told that it was the proper thing to do and all that, but such an explanation didn't satisfy me. I was curious. Other boxers told me it was to develop my legs and wind. So I thought it over and worked out my own system.

"A fighter goes at top speed for three minutes and then takes a one minute rest.

"While you are exercising violently your blood shoots around your head fast, too.

"When you rest, your blood slows down.

"The heart action adjusts itself accordingly. So I have worked out the roadwork schedule to conform to actual fighting time.

"Five miles on the road corresponds to the 15-round route, the length of my Big Battle with Dempsey.

"Aside from these reasons for road stuff, it toughens my legs.

"Legs are just as important as arms in fighting. It's when the legs weaken that you lose your judge of distance and the hardest punch in the world doesn't mean anything unless it connects at the right spot at the right time.

"I've noticed baseball pitchers. They go along great for a few innings, then all at once they can't locate the plate.

"Their arms often aren't to blame at all. It's their legs that weaken and unbalance their pitching judge of distance.

"I never had but a few 15-round fights.

"A lot of them were scheduled for that route—but they didn't go that far.

"So when I fight Dempsey my legs are going to be in just as good shape as my arms."

MINOT TAKES GAME IN 10th

Jamestown, June 11.—Minot defeated Jamestown in a four-inning thriller here Sunday, the fans getting their money's worth although they saw the home team lose a heart-breaking contest.

The Jamestown team, reinforced with Clark catching and Wingfield, who played third, adding hitting strength, went out to win behind "Buck" Enger. The score was tied up by Jamestown in the ninth inning when it stood 4 to 2 in Minot's favor.

Rapola was put in the box in the tenth, but Minot landed hard and scored four runs in her half. Jamestown failed to rally.

Rain prevented Saturday's contest Sunday's game:

Minot 000 000 103 4-8 9 0
Jamestown 100 010 002 0-4 13 4

Batteries: Leifer and Wornen. Enger, Rapola and Clark.

Around The Circuit

Wingfield, who joined the Jamestown club, played third base for the Jimkotans Sunday at Jamestown. Clark, the new catcher, was with the Jamestown team. Manager Hester of the Minot club, in addition to getting put out of the game there Friday, drew the $10 fine that went with it.

It is reported that Warner, the Minot boy who is catching for the magicians, will quit the team, returning to his job in Minot and that Casey, a Seattle man, will catch for Minot.

The South Dakota League is having a hot race, there being four clubs in that league as the North Dakota League. Aberdeen went into the lead the other day. The teams in the league are Mitchell, Aberdeen, Sioux Falls and Watertown.

Manager Earl Pickering of the New Rockford-Carrington team declares that the expert merit of having one team represent two towns as far away as New Rockford and Carrington, almost 20 miles, is proving a success. The fans are loyal and turn out good crowd," he says.

Should New Rockford-Carrington defeat Bismarck today and Jamestown lose, the "Twins" will go out of last place.

KANSAS COURT LOOSES CASE IN HIGH COURT

Justice Taft Does Not Decide
Upon Constitutionality
Of Act

Washington, D. C., June 11.—The supreme court held today in connection with the Charles Wolf Packing Co. that a Kansas court can not regulate wages of employee. It was decided that the packing company was not clothed with such public interest as to give the state authority to interfere. The constitutionality of the act was not passed upon.

Washington, June 11.—The power of a state to prevent strikes in essential industries by creating a court or commission with jurisdiction to adjust labor troubles was challenged in the Supreme Court by the Charles Wolf Packing Company of Topeka, a subsidiary of the Allied Packers, in a case against the Court of Industrial Relations of Kansas.

The Court in the first of its kind. Once before its life seemed threatened when Alexander Howatt, a labor leader, refused to appear before it while it had under consideration an impending strike in the coal fields of Kansas. A controversy over the constitutionality of the law was avoided at that time when Howatt was held in contempt by a regularly constituted judicial court for refusal to obey an injunction which it had issued. The Supreme Court held his commitment valid, but did not upon the jurisdiction of the Industrial Relations Court.

Kansas sought in creating the court to solve the problem of industrial unrest, and relieve itself from the disastrous consequences so often attending labor strikes. The law provided that the tribunal should arbitrate differences between employer and employee before a suspension of industry. The state described the purpose of the law to be the continuity and efficiency of operation in such industries as supply the necessities of life, the preservation of the public peace, health and welfare, and the prevention of economic waste. It did not attempt to regulate or control all industrial disputes, but only those affecting its food and fuel supply, and the manufacture of its clothing. Even in those industries the court was expected to act only in times of emergency.

LIONS CLUB HOLDS PICNIC

The Lions' picnic was pulled off according to schedule at the Tom Hall grove north of Mandan and 30 miles from Bismarck, near Price yesterday. The day was fine and everybody was in the best of spirits. Tom Hall blazed the way in his Ford speedster and kicked up all kinds of dust so that the rest of us couldn't see whether we were on or off the road most of the time. Fred Peterson at the start promised not to cut the crowd with his Stutz, and ate as much dirt as the rest of us; except on coming back, after he left, we did not see hide nor hair of him since then. It was up hill and down hill all along the way, and skirting and circling mountain butte after butte with the deep precipice falling away on one side. The view was grand all the way up as viewed from the high peaks. The Missouri's broad silvery stream, lying to the right of us skirted on both sides by the ever pleasing effect of the verdant green timber; and to our left and in our midst the eye passed over stream and rivulet, dell and ravine, deep gullies and steep cliffs, here and there dotted with clumps of trees, and the ever green grass spreading over the whole vast expanse. At last we came to Hall's grove, and here we camped for the day's picnic on the side of a hill under the overhanging elms, and near the silver brook coming down from the near mountains fed by its 135 springs, and as clear as crystal with silver minnows flitting up and down.

The first to arrive were the Halls, Olsons, Petersons and the Welles. After the ladies had set the lunch in full swing, the day's picnic on the side of a hill under the overhanging elms, and near the silver brook coming down from the near mountains fed by its 135 springs, and as clear as crystal with silver minnows flitting up and down.

Later in the afternoon we all set out for Square Butte creek near Yucan. Here on the banks of the creek we camped again. The Lions went fishing along its banks. Some of the children and young misses went in wading and provided entertainment for the ladies when several fell into the creek clothes and all. One young Miss and a child were minus clothes for awhile, and various pieces were hung on the bushes to dry, while they themselves kept closely wrapped in blankets and cloaks, till they were dry. It was such a good joke that they all enjoyed it, and the unlucky one will remember it and the creek for some time.

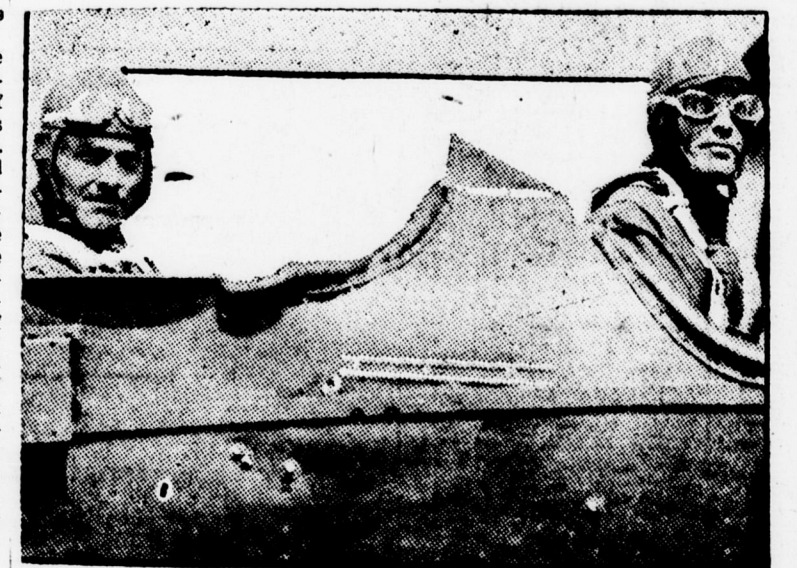

All the creek fishermen were making excuses for not pulling them in, and, especially Hadden who had such a wonderful catch down at Lake Perham, just last week. May be it was because he didn't have

KAISER AND BRIDE SEPARATED? NO!

This picture spikes the rumor that Wilhelm, ex-kaiser of Germany, and his bride have separated. It was taken as Wilhelm and Princess Hermine strolled through the streets of Doorn after her return from a six-weeks visit to her former home in Silesia. This is the second time they have been together on the streets of Doorn since their wedding last November. Note that Wilhelm walks on the inside, swinging his cane with his good arm.

THEY'RE BLAZING NEW AIR TRAIL

the "girls" along to bait his hook, so Obert Olson says, and he ought to know. The Lomas family joined us here, and right glad we were to see them. Lion Lomas has a good scent and followed our trail all day. He found our lair in the dell we had left behind with memories of a good time, and followed the trail on and on until he found the new lair and came tumbling in with his broad smile. Tom Hall caught a trout, a little larger than a minnow, and proudly strutted around showing it to his friends. Then the "Colonel" pulled out a big one, a pike weighing about two pounds; and then Tom says I guess I will throw mine back to some other fellow, which he did. Olson and Peterson are quite faithful fishermen, as they can "SET" by the hour without a bite. For lunch and dinner we had soft and hard-boiled eggs, which Olson claims he hatched on the running board of his car, and that he can catch fish if he wants to. Fred Peterson is the regular Grover Cleveland of the bunch, when he goes fishing—as there is nothing dry or missing about him, and he hates to get up to get a drink of water, and he selected a spot all by his lonesome. His good wife came along and asked how many fish he had caught, and he replied that he was getting all kinds of bits and nips. Clifton Johnson fishes like a man in an aero-plane with his cork in the air instead of floating on the pond to scent the nibble—but he is a good story teller, and his good wife should ask him all about the President Harding story, et al. He is a good story teller even if he can't fish; and Olson is a live wire for any picnic with his basket full of them; and that Bob Loubek is just simply the limit as he has them by the barrel full, and they all stuck around like flies, save the ladies, and Fred Peterson.

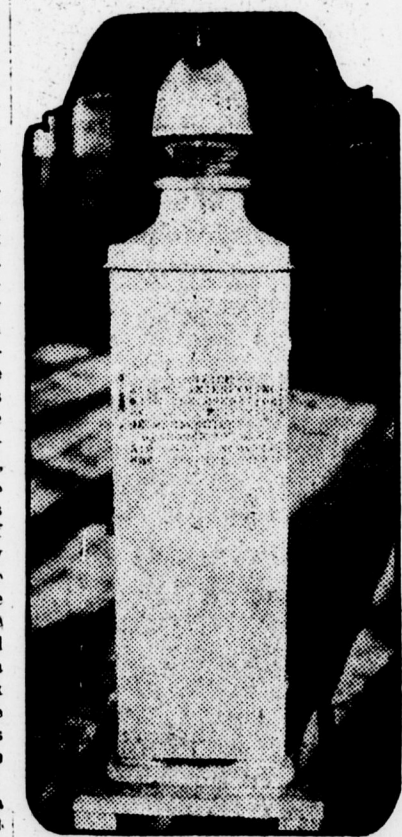

With the late comers' supplies, a swell camp dinner was spread, and greatly enjoyed by all on the side of a hill close by the creek. Phil Webb and Charley Haugh, both bachelors, were easily conceded by the ladies to be the handsomest men present; but, yet, Tom Hall was quite popular, but you know his wife was not present, and he had the advantage of the rest of us—ask Olson if he didn't. We packed and pulled for home about half past eight. Thus ended the first Lions' Picnic, which is to be an annual affair from now on.

BEACONS

Lights to Guide Night
Flyers

TYPE OF BEACON WHICH WILL GUIDE "JUNCLE SAM'S" MAIL FLYERS AT NIGHT.
By NEA Service

Chicago, June 9.—Beacons, stretched across the country, will guide Uncle Sam's air-mail aviators at night. These land-light-houses will be placed three miles apart, and will cheer the night-flying pilot as the sea mariner is cheered by the lighthouses along the coast.

The beacons are about four and a half feet high. Mounted on the top of the pedestal is a glass reflector, lighted by acetylene, gas and shooting vertical rays. They are the result of much study by officials to make night flying safe. Every 25 miles will be a landing field, also well lighted. The first beacons are to be erected on the 1000-mile stretch from Chicago to Cheyenne, Wyo., this summer.

AUSTRIAN LOAN IS SUBSCRIBED

London, June 11.—The 11,000,000 pound block of the new Austrian loan which the Bank of England undertook to float was so well received by the investing public that the list was closed before noon today. This was taken to indicate that the British share of the loan would be largely oversubscribed.
